Time Bombs Plague Area In Montreal

Several Explode In Mail Boxes; Engineer Hurt

MONTREAL (AP)—A terrorist time bomb exploded and seriously injured a Canadian army engineer trying to disarm it before hundreds of spectators in suburban Westmount Friday.

Other bombs deposited overnight in Westmount mail boxes went off at intervals, smashing windows and startling residents over a wide area.

Sgt. Maj. Walter Holland Leja, a 45-year-old combat veteran of World War II, was one of the army and police specialists rushed into the bomb disposal work. He had rendered two harmless and was working on a third at chest level when it detonated.

He lost his left arm, his face was badly injured and doctors are fighting to keep him alive, Leja's commanding officer, Col. Joel Wolfe, reported.

An army spokesman first said Leja had been killed.

Four weeks ago a bomb set off at a Canadian army recruiting station in midtown Montreal killed a 65-year-old night watchman. Responsibility was claimed by an outlaw separatist organization, Le Front De Liberation Quebecois, which wants predominantly French-speaking Quebec to secede from Canada.

The first of the mail box charges exploded at 3 a.m.

One blast damaged a door at St. Matthias Anglican Church and blew in windows in an apartment building. In another area windows of a restaurant were broken and a telephone booth was shattered.

Police bomb squad and army men joined in efforts to disarm the packages, some pointed out by postmen.

Kennan Resigns As Ambassador To Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON (AP) — George F. Kennan will resign as ambassador to Yugoslavia and return to academic life this fall, the White House announced Friday.

Kennan, envoy in Belgrade since March 7, 1961, took a leave of absence from the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton, N.J., to take the ambassadorship.

The White House said, "no decision has been reached with respect to Ambassador Kennan's successor."

Neither was any effective date given for Kennan's resignation. The White House simply said Kennan "has informed the President that he feels it necessary to return this autumn to his academic duties."

A former ambassador to the Soviet Union, Kennan is a specialist in Soviet affairs.

Rockefellers Have Plane Reservations

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and his bride of two weeks have airline reservations to fly from their honeymoon in Venezuela on Monday.

Pan American World Airways said the Rockefellers had been booked on its Flight 442 from Caracas which arrives in San Juan, P.R., at 6:30 p.m. local time.

The line, which said the reservations information came from its office in Miami, Fla., said it had no information about the travel plans of the Rockefellers from San Juan.

When the governor and his bride, the former Margaretta Murphy, left by plane May 5, for a honeymoon on the Rockefeller ranch in Venezuela, he said they would be away a couple of weeks.

TO WHIPPING. POST — Top picture is Judge Stewart Lynch of Wilmington, Del, who sentenced Talmadge R. Balser, (below) yesterday to 20 lashes and 25 years in jail after he was found guilty of a $4 robbery in Wilmington last July.

Judge Imposes Sentence To Whipping Post

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Judge Stewart Lynch of the Delaware Superior Court imposed a whipping post sentence Friday on a 40-year-old man accused of a $4 robbery.

Judge Lynch ordered Talmedge R. Balser, 40, to submit to 20 lashes and 25-years in jail.

The whipping post sentence currently is being challenged in the U.S. Supreme Court as a result of a previous 20-lash sentence imposed by Judge Lynch.

The judge said the lashes in Balser's case would be administered "the first secular day following 30 days from the time a Supreme Court order is received upholding the sentence."

Sabotage Plan Is Disclosed

MIAMI (UPI)—Fidel Castro's government is preparing a vast sabotage plan for Latin America, including terrorist attempts, bank holdups and attacks upon military installations, according to a report reaching Cuban exile sources here.

The report said the terrorist plan was drafted by Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Cuba's minister of industry. It was said to have been read last April 30 to a group of more than 200 labor representatives from Latin America who had been invited to participate in the May 1 celebrations in Havana.

Five Latin American countries were indicated as "preferred" for the subversion plan—Venezuela, Colombia, Brazil, Peru and Ecuador, according to the sources.

As secondary targets, the plan included Argentina, Mexico, Panama and the smaller Central American countries, it was said.

New Drive Seen By Reds In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops, aided by North Vietnamese artillerymen, appeared Friday to be starting a drive to push neutralist Gen. Kong Le out of the Plain of Jars.

Kong Le's headquarters location was shelled Thursday night for the second successive night.

Reports reaching Vientiane told of North Vietnamese troops entering the country by forced marches over jungle trails, but there was no official confirmation.

UPI correspondent Estelle Holt reported from Muong Phanh that shelling destroyed Kong Le's field kitchen Thursday. She said it was extremely accurate, although it appeared to be a harassing action so far.

Reds In Korea Shoot Down U.S. Helicopter

Refuse To Disclose Fate Of Two American Officers

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Communist ground fire knocked down and badly damaged a U. S. Army helicopter in North Korea Friday. The Communists refused to disclose the fate of the two officers aboard it.

The report that the helicopter was shot down was made at a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission by Maj. Gen. Chang Chung-hwan, chief delegate of Communist North Korea.

Chang charged the flight was "part of the U.S. imperialists' hostile activities in Korea." He evaded a request by the U.N. Command for the return of the two pilots and the helicopter.

Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud of the U.S. Marines, the senior U.N. delegate, told Chang the helicopter was on a routine mission, strayed over North Korea by error, and asked that the men and machines be returned.

The two pilots were identified as Capt. Ben Weakley Stutts and Capt. Charleton W. Voltz.

The Pentagon said Mrs. Stutts lives in Florence, Ala.; and Voltz' wife in Frankfort, Mich.

When Cloud asked Chang about the condition of the two pilots the North Korean merely smiled and would not answer. Nor would he agree to a request for another commission meeting Saturday to discuss the matter.

A U.N Command spokesman estimated the helicopter went down about 17 miles northwest of Seoul and less than a mile north of the northern edge of the demilitarized zone established by the 1953 armistice agreement.

The spokesman said the two captains were experienced pilots familiar with the area. He said they were checking identification markers along the south side of the demilitarized zone, which is 2½ miles wide.

Kennedy Plans To Pay Call On Pope John

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy plans to pay a call on Pope John XXIII when he visits Italy next month, it was learned Friday.

No date for the meeting has been set. But it probably will occur in the week beginning June 17.

Informants said they did not know whether the meeting would take place at the Vatican or at Castel Gandolfo, the Pope's summer residence near Rome.

In Vatican City, high Vatican sources said that Kennedy's meeting with Pope John would be in the nature of a private audience rather than an official visit.

"It will be a very important affair," they said.

There has been considerable speculation about whether the President, who was planning to visit Milan and possibly Florence, would go to Rome. But the Italian capital is now said to be under consideration largely because the Pope's health is such that he would not want to undertake travel far from the Vatican.

Equal Status Bill Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Friday passed and sent to the House a bill that would require employers to pay women salaries equal to those for men if they performed the same work.

There was no opposition to the equal pay for equal work measure. It was passed by voice vote after only a few minutes of discussion.

A similar bill has been approved by the House Labor and Public Welfare Committee and sponsors predict it will be passed by the House. It has administration support.

The Senate bill would amend the 1958 Fair Labor Standards Act to provide that there be no wage discrimination because of sex "for equal work on jobs the performance of which requires equal skill, effort and responsibility and are performed under similar working conditions."

It would be administered by the wage and hour division of the Department of Labor. Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., principal author of the bill, said if it becomes law the department will require "cautious step-by-step implementation."

To Launch Subs

GROTON, Conn. (UPI) — Two atomic submarines will be christened simultaneously, June 22 in the first twin launching since the start of the Navy's atomic ship program in 1954.

The Polaris missile-firing sub Tecumseh and the attack sub Flahser will be launched at the electric boat division of General Dynamics Corp.

Dillon Cancels Plans To Close IRS Offices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon canceled Friday his plan to merge the New York and Boston regional offices of the Internal Revenue Service. But he approved most other major features of an IRS field office streamlining.

The realignment plan, announced March 5, had brought protests from members of Congress from the areas affected. So two days later, Dillon announced that he would review the plan and give careful consideration to the objections raised.

The principal upshot of this was Dillon's announcement that the plan to merge the New York and Boston regional offices, with headquarters in Boston, had been called off.

But he approved the plan to merge the Omaha, Neb., regional office with the Chicago regional office.

He also approved the merger of the operations of four districts, all in states with more than one district office. These four districts are: Syracuse, N.Y., merged into Buffalo; Camden, N.J., into Newark; Kansas City, Mo., into St. Louis; and Scranton, Pa., to be divided between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Cooper In Perfect Condition After 22-Orbit Space Flight

By RALPH DIGHTON

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE (AP)—Refreshed by 10 hours of sleep, alert and cheerful Gordon Cooper said Friday he was most impressed by marvelous views of the earth during his 22-orbit space flight Wednesday and Thursday.

From an estimated 110 miles up, Cooper actually picked out his home district of Clear Lake at Houston, Texas, he told Dr. Richard Pollard.

In the grandeur of the Himalayas, he could see smoke curling from villages as he whirled past at 17,500 miles an hour at heights from 100 to 166 miles.

Weather conditions were ideal over most of the world, and the sights of the United States and Asia were especially good, he said.

As he went through checks by a medical team that marveled at his physical condition, Cooper again and again commented on the view from space.

He said he could see all the Florida coast and as far north as Washington, D.C., or New York. He apparently wasn't sure of the city.

Completely Normal

The experiment of spotting a light in South Africa was successful but Cooper said he saw a small horseshoe-shaped village nearby before he located the light.

Dr. Pollard reported that Cooper Friday was in all respects "a completely normal hum an being" who showed no ill effects from his adventure in weightlessness.

The reddened eyes and hoarse voice which the physicians observed after Cooper's return to earth Thursday afternoon had cleared. These symptoms had been attributed to the oyxgen in his Faith 7 capsule.

His blood pressure and pulse were normal. Pressure spots on his body, made by his position in the capsule and by the construction of his space suit, had almost disappeared.

The more they examined him, the more pleased were the doctors. They had anticipated having to deal with a man in a fainting condition when he first came down.

Can't Recall Dreams

The very absence of aftereffects was emerging as a principal result of the flight, raising hopes for eventual manned space trips to the moon in this decade.

Cooper disclosed that during his naps aloft he even dreamed, but said he could not recall the dreams.

At one point, he told his doctors, he awoke with a start to find his arms outstretched in front of him. He had tucked his thumbs under his harness straps to avoid accidentally flipping a control switch in his sleep.

Air Force surgeon Charles Upp of Detroit, Mich., said Cooper reported feeling more of a sensation of speed than had any of the previous astronauts.

As Cooper went through his busy day, sometimes on a tiling board for physical examinations, sometimes recording his experiences and impressions on tape, his manner was one of cheerfulness and eagerness.

He was looking forward to a reunion with his wife, Trudy, and daughters Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, in Honolulu Saturday afternoon.

They were flying from Texas to Honolulu for the reunion as the carrier Kearsarge sailed lazily toward Hawaii and a jubilant welcome for America's latest space hero. It will be the first in a series, including a reception at the White House Tuesday and a ticker-tape parade in New York Wednesday.

Cooper's feat—22 orbits in 34 hours, 20 minutes, 30 seconds—was marvelous in itself. But it apparently sounded the finale of the Mercury space program and opened the door to something far more fantastic—man on the moon within this decade.

The Oklahoma astronaut, 36, whose laconic "Roger" and "Okay" replies in a tense situ-Mercury test. Cooper was the last

Negro Guards Around Homes In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said Friday there have been threats of more racial bombings in Birmingham this weekend and that volunteer Negro guards are being place at the homes of Negro leaders.

King said a Negro minister, whom he would not identify, received a telephone warning he was next on the bombers' list.

The integration leader said the volunteer guards will take up positions on a 24-hour basis starting at sundown.

Asked why the threat wasn't taken to authorities, King explained:

"We asked for protection from the city when we were warned (of the bombings) last weekend. No protection came, so we decided it was useless to make a new protest."

The home of a Negro leader and a motel that serves as a meeting place for integration leaders were bombed shortly before midnight last Saturday, touching off a riot in the Negro section that lasted until dawn. Buildings were burned and scores injured.

The bombings apparently were carried out by whites incensed over an integration agreement worked out earlier in the week between Negro leaders and white businessmen.

Despite the violence, both sides agreed during the week to stick by the agreement, although King said Thursday there were differing interpretations on parts of the agreement between the two factions.

King said Negro leaders planned to set up new talks with white community leaders some time next week in an effort to iron out these differences.

Most Of World Hails Flight By Astronaut

LONDON (UPI) — A delighted world joined Americans Friday in celebrating L. Gordon Cooper's safe return from a remarkable 22-orbit spin around the earth.

From Moscow to Tokyo, newspapers and radios spread the word. Statesmen coupled their cheers with people in the streets.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer found themselves in rare accord as they sent congratulations to Washington.

Other messages were sent by Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, Malayan Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman and many statesmen around the globe.

Western newspapers blazed with banner headlines proclaiming the pin-point accuracy achieved by Cooper in piloting his spaceship back to earth by manual controls.

Communist newspapers printed the news but mostly relegated it to inside or back pages. They emphasized flaws in the nearly perfect flight and repeatedly stressed that the Russians had sent a man up for 64 orbits.

Adlai E. Stevenson Tells Congressmen United Nations Social Whirl Too Much

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson said Friday he tries to keep up with the United Nations social whirl "to the limits of my endurance and strength," but it's getting to be a drag.

"One of the heaviest burdens is going to two or three parties a day," the U.S. ambassador to the world organization told a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee.

Stevenson urged that Congress authorize housing allowances for 20 top members of the U.S. mission to the United Nations, so they can maintain homes big enough to entertain foreign diplomats in New York.

But he drew a line between the "informal and intimate" gatherings he said U.S. representatives would sponsor, and big, lavish receptions and cocktail parties "of which I think there are entirely too many."

Stevenson asked for revision of the U.N. Participation Act to provide special housing allowances for U.S. representatives who entertain foreign diplomats. He said the government should pay their housing expenses over $3,000 a year. He estimated the cost at $50,000 to $60,000 yearly.

With 111 nations represented in the world body, Stevenson said, U.S. responsibilities as the host country have continually broadened.

Republican Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa wanted to know just how much fancy social life there is at the United Nations. He produced a Saturday Evening Post article entitled "This is the U.N. at Play," and started reading excerpts.

Gross read a section about what the article called "ladies of the corridor"—girls who stroll through U.N. hallways "fluffing their hair and painting their mouths."

"The latter part is an aspect of the work with which I'm not familiar," Stevenson said.

Donegan Named To SAC Board

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thomas J. Donegan was nominated Friday by President Kennedy for reappointment to membership on the Subversive Activities Control Board.

The President also submitted to the Senate his previously announced nominations of Lee Loevinger, Federal Communications Commission, and William H. Orrick Jr., as assistant attorney-general to fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of Loevinger to the FCC.

Washington Plans Hero's Reception

Parade, Ceremony At White House Slated Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and the nation's capital will pay homage to astronaut L. Gordon Cooper and his "victory for the human spirit" next Tuesday with a White House ceremony, a parade and hurrahs from members of Congress.

Honors will be bestowed upon the quiet spaceman on the 36th anniversary of another famous flight by an American pilot. On May 21, 1927 Charles A. Lindbergh landed in Paris after the first solo non-stop flight across the Atlantic.

Cooper will be received with full military honors by the President who will award him the Distinguished Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). It has been pinned on the other U.S. pilots who went into space.

More "Breathing Time"

The Washington reception originally had been planned for Monday, but the White House and NASA decided to put it off until Tuesday to give the astronaut "some breathing time."

Cooper is being flown from Hawaii to Cape Canaveral for a Sunday news conference. He will enjoy a day of rest in the Florida beach country before flying to Washington.

The astronaut and his family will travel from Cape Canaveral to Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington in a jet transport normally assigned to the White House. They will go by helicopter to a park south of the White House, then motor to the executive mansion for a ceremony in the rose garden.

Arrangements were being worked out for a parade through Washington and perhaps an appearance before the House and Senate, many of whose members joined the President in praising the astronaut.

President Hails Flight

The President hailed Cooper's flight shortly after its dramatic conclusion as a victory of peace, "one of the victories for the human spirit."

The White House emphasized that the one-day delay in the come there involved no problem with Cooper's physical condition. Press secretary Pierre Salinger said the astronaut's schedule was too tight and the President wanted to give him a day of rest.

There were some similarities between the Cooper and the Lindbergh flights. Both were non-stop and the elapsed time was about the same.

Lindbergh, then a U.S. air mail pilot, flew from Long Island, N.Y., to Paris in 33 hours, 29 minutes and 30 seconds. Cooper's time aloft was 34 hours and 20 minutes.

There was one considerable difference. Lindbergh flew 3,610 miles; Cooper logged nearly 600,000 miles.

Military Housing Is Sub-Standard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara urged Congress Friday to provide better housing for families of servicemen. He told the House Armed Services Committee that 138,000 military families are living in sub-standard facilities.

"I have personally been shocked to learn of the kind of quarters that some of our military families have been forced to live in," McNamara said. Yet, he said, they often have to pay premium prices for what they get.

McNamara said in some military base areas, decent housing is unavailable at any price. He said 32,000 of the sub-standard housing units are government-owned.

Stool Pigeon, Police, Dogs Halt College Panty Raids

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (UPI) — There's a stool pigeon in the ranks of Lehigh University and Moravian College panty raiders.

For the second time in two nights, the two students bodies joined forces for a panty raid on the women's dormitory at Moravian, but "somebody tipped off the fuzz." Police were waiting as 300 male students yelled "charge" and dashed off a hill towards the dormitory.

There were two other panty raids — one in Texas and one in Connecticut — during the night.

Things got so wild at Arlington, Tex., near Dallas, that police had to use dogs and fire hoses to break up the 400 raiders from Arlington State College.

In Storrs, Conn., an estimated 500 men students stormed a three-story women's dormitory at the University of Connecticut, but after an hour of shouting, police and state police "talked" the men back to their rooms.

In Bethlehem, the students were so frustrated after their second aborted raid that they returned to the Lehigh campus and broke bottles, tore down signs and "bayed at the moon," as one police officer put it.

Twenty-five students were arrested — 14 from the university and 11 from Oravian.

Dr. Martin Luther King Invited To Speak Before Presbyterian Assembly

Opposition Voiced To Proposed Revision Of Tax Deduction Law

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The United Presbyterian Church Friday invited Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader who sparked the Birmingham anti-segregation demonstrations, to address its 175th assembly.

HELD IN THEFT — This is an FBI photo of Jack E. Paramore, 32, arrested in New York Friday in connection with the theft of two paintings from the Marion Kogler McNay Art Institute in San Antonio, Texas. He was held on a charge of interstate transportation of stolen goods when the FBI agents found the paintings, valued at $30,000, in a west side apartment occupied by him. (AP Photofax)

The 840 commissioners (delegates) to the assembly now in session here voted with only a few scattered "no" votes to extend the invitation.

They asked Dr. King to speak on "responsibility of the church in the present racial crisis" at a time convenient to him and the assembly. The church conference continues through Wednesday.

The motion to invite King was made by the Rev. Robert P. Johnson, Negro pastor of the 15th St. Presbyterian Church, Washington, D.C.

Blast Tax Revision

The Rev. Mr. Johnson offered an amendment which would have extended the invitation to Dr. King's chief aide, the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, if the president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference was unable to come.

The amendment was defeated, but the original resolution was adopted on the recommendation of the Rev. Raymond G. Campbell, chairman of the Assembly Committee on Bills and Overtures and pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Oklahoma City, Okla.

J. Howard Pew, president of the United Presbyterian Foundation, told the assembly that President Kennedy's proposed revision in tax deductions was "a tax on gifts to spiritual institutions."

Pew, 82, a prominent lay leader and board chairman of the Sun Oil Co., said the administration's plans would result in "a serious curtailment" of activities of all agencies of the United Presbyterian Church.

"Once this tax is established, it will be progressively increased until the church can no longer fulfill its God-given mission," Pew said.

Calls It Degrading

He levelled his attack at a proposal to consider all contributions in one lump which must exceed 5 per cent of adjusted gross income before deductions would be permitted. Under present law, taxpayers may deduct as much as 30 per cent of their gross income given to religious and charitable institutions, in addition to deductions for such items as interest, medical expenses and loca taxes.

Pew said it was degrading and "violates the dignity of the church" to classify churches and related religious institutions with other charitable organizations, interest, medical expenses and taxes.

"It is intolerable that we should permit political authorities to impose a tax on gifts to spiritual institutions," Pew said. "We mus remember the directive of Jesus to 'render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and until God the things that are God's'."

The assembly Thursday elected the Rev. Silas G. Kessler, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hastings, Neb., as moderator, succeeding Dr. Marshal L. Scott, dean of the Presbyterian Institute of Industrial Relations in Chicago.

Man Shoots At Children On Playground

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)— Everly Foley, a 53-year-old bachelor who said he was "disgusted with children making noise," was charged Friday with firing a rifle several times into a school yard where children were playing.

None of the elementary school children was hit. About a dozen students at the Pentress Elementary School were playing in the yard when the shooting broke out.

Monongalia County Sheriff Clarence Johnson said Foley told deputies he started shooting the .22 caliber rifle because the children "just annoyed me—I didn't intend to put up with that noise."

Foley's home is near the school. Pentress is a community of 110, located about 20 miles west of Morgantown and 1½ miles south of the Pennsylvania State line.

Johnson said several shots were fired. "I don't know whether he shot to hit or shot to scare—but he shot," the sheriff said.

Foley offered no resistance when officers made the arrest at his home. He was jailed at Morgantown pending a preliminary hearing Saturday on charges of felonious shooting.

India Says Red Troops Build Up Along Border

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Indian government said Friday that Communist China has been concentrating increasing numbers of troops along the disputed frontier with India.

Chinese troops have infiltrated into the neutralized zone at one point in the Ladakh area and India has protested the action in a note to Peking, a Foreign Office spokesman said.

"There has been a progressive concentration of Chinese troops, not only in the Northeast Frontier Agency (NEFA) but in other sectors of the border as well," the spokesman said.

The North East Frontier and the Ladakh area, in northern Kashmir, were the scene of heavy fighting last autumn when Chinese troops penetrated deeply into Indian territory. The Chinese forces subsequently pulled back under a self-proclaimed truce.

Nebraska Listed As Second Most Segregated State

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Next to Alabama, Nebraska is the most segregated state in the nation as far as employment of Negroes in state government is concerned, a state senator charged Friday.

Sen. Terry Carpenter said the state hires no Negroes in the Departments of Banking, Insurance, liquor, Purchasing, Fire Marshal, or Safety Patrol.

The Highway Department has three Negroes, the Agricultural Department and Health Departments one each, Carpenter said.

The legislature gave 33-2 approval to a resolution urging Gov. Frank Morrison to use the influence of his office to eliminate any racial discrimination existing in state employment practices.

Police Slayer Fights To Escape Gas Chamber

BALTIMORE (AP)—Arguments were completed Friday on a petition by Johnny Brown who has asked the U.S. District Court to save him from the Maryland gas chamber.

Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen did not indicate when he would hand down a decision on Brown's plea that his constitutional rights were violated.

The 47-year-old Negro cook has been convicted and sentenced to death three times for the slaying of a Salisbury policeman.

Brown was first tried in Cambridge, about 40 miles from where the shooting took place. The third trial was in Easton, about 15 miles from Cambridge.

H. Russell Smouse, Brown's attorney, is challenging the conviction on the grounds the third trial should have been held farther away from the scene of the crime.

A former lawyer for Brown testified Friday he had not objected to a change of venue to Easton after Brown was convicted twice in Cambridge.

AEC Plans Move To Bethesda, Md.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission plans to move its regulatory staff from its Germantown, Md., headquarters to leased space in Bethesda, Md.

Plans for the shift were announced Friday by Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the commission. He said a shortage of office space in the comparatively new Germantown building is the reason.

The move is to be made June 7.

The regulatory staff is made up of three divisions—licensing and regulation, compliance, and radiation protection.

Cooper Is Perfect

prepared astronaut to fly, and ation made him sound much like the late actor Gary Cooper, made a trip that approximated in length the distance to the moon and back.

However, it would take some 60 hours to reach the moon, in contrast to Cooper's 34-hour flight. The average speed in space flight to the moon would be about half that of earth-orbiting. Cooper's speed in orbit, with centrifugal force counteracting gravity, was not affected this way by the earth pull.

Cooper estimated "We have learned a lot from this mission." National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials and doctors agreed.

Ends Mercury Tests

Brainerd Holmes, director of NASA manned flight, said there was less than a 50 per cent chance there would be another most of Mercury's lessons have been learned.

Holmes indicated the United States was ready to go ahead with the next step in space exploration —the two-man Gemini program. The first twin-astronaut shot is at least 18 months ahead. Beyond it, and predicted within this decade, is a manned landing on the moon —and safe return.

Cooper finished his great flight as he had started it, quietly and without apparent emotion. He was dehydrated and quickly drank four glasses of pineapple juice. Then he went through a two-hour medical examination that disclosed nothing more serious than temporary weight loss. Professional football players lose more in two hours.

Is Master Pilot

Cooper said he found weightlessness "quite enjoyable," a typical remark from the man who has been called by friends a "human computer."

The astronaut proved his mastery over the machine by bringing Faith 7 back to earth with a masterful job of manual guidance.

An electrical system failure required that he fire his retro-rockets by himself and control his landing process. Coordinating with fellow astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. aboard a tracking ship off southern Japan, Cooper hit the bullseye 96 miles southeast of Midway Island inside the preplanned "ballpark."

Cooper and the scorched blue-gray capsule plopped into the Pacific only 4.4 miles off the bow of this prime recovery ship. It was the finest job of marksmanship in the history of manned flight.

Dizzy Few Seconds

He was dizzy and needed support for about 15 seconds after he backed out of the capsule on the Kearsarge hangar deck. Pollard and another doctor, Air Force surgeon Charles W. Upp, supported him under the arms until he regained control.

There was nothing unusual about the dizziness. It had been expected.

Pollard had warned before the flight that Cooper might pass out while trying to get out of the capsule.

The explanation for the giddy feeling was simple. Weightlessness is somewhat similar to lying quietly in bed. It causes a "pooling" of blood in the feet and legs and a lessening of blood supply to the brain.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police said Friday a 15-year-old girl who has accused a policeman of raping her would be taken before Juvenile Court as a minor without proper care.

Capt. George H. Deuchler said attempts to reach the girl's estranged parents have been unsuccessful. She came to Baltimore from Frederick about two years ago and has been living with acquaintances here.

Patrolman Joseph L. Halliday, the accused policeman, is a veteran of 17 years on the force. He was freed on $2,500 bail after a hearing Thursday.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The medical staff has recommended that cigarette vending machines and counter sales of cigarettes be suspended at Lutheran Hospital.

Dr. John Wagner, a pathologist, reported Friday that the recommendation was agreed upon without argument during a staff meeting Thursday. He said the board of directors must ratify the staff decision.

"Although there is no air-tight scientific proof," Dr. Wagner said, "all evidence points menacingly toward cigarettes as containing the offending material related to lung cancer."

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore City Health Department has cautioned Maryland motorists to use only seat belts that have met the standards of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Dean Hungerford, chief of the department's accident prevention section, said purchasers should be certain belts are easily ajustable and meet SAE standards.

"An approved belt will have a statement on the carton or buckle indicating these standards have been met," he said.

U.S. Protests Polish Position On Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported putting pressure on Communist Poland Friday to abandon obstructive behavior in Laos and work with Canada and India to effect a secure cease-fire.

The issue is a very serious one for the Polish government and for U.S. relations with Poland. An administration proposal now is pending for removal of a Congress-imposed barrier to closer trade ties with Poland.

State Department press officer Joseph Reap told a news conference that the Polish member of the truce commission in Laos has been obstructive. He added that "As a result of his activities out there we have taken that matter up with the Polish ambassador here."

Subsequenly it was learned that Asst. Secretary of State William Tyler has had several conferences with Ambassador Edward Drozniak the most recent last Monday.

Informants denied that the United States had threatened or warned the Polish government but they said the Foreign Office in Warsaw should now understand that the obstructive tactics of its commission member in Laos create a bad atmosphere for efforts to get the trade barrier removed.

President Kennedy recently obtained a new declaration of support by Soviet Premier Khrushchev for the neutralization of Laos. U.S. officials thought this would be reflected in Khrushchev's instructions to Warsaw to make the commission a force for peace in Laos.

However, that did not happen and Communist Pathet Lao attacks on the positions of the neutralist forces in the Plaine des Jarres have continued sporadically although major fighting stopped about two weeks ago.

Work To Begin On State Display At World's Fair

BALTIMORE (AP) — Construction will begin June 10 on the Maryland pavilion at the 1964-65 World's Fair in New York.

Twenty-four caterers have been asked to submit bids for operating the restaurant which will be Maryland's main attraction.

The restaurant with linen napkins will specialize in Maryland delicacies on the theory that the fastest way to a tourist's pocketbook is through his stomach. It will seat 250.

Robert Filliettaz, executive director of the State World's Fair Commission, said the 24 firms asked to bid include most of Maryland's top caterers as well as three outside the state which had expressed an interest. Bidding will not be limited to the 24, however.

Maryland's pavilion at the fair also will include a 120-seat theater and a fisherman's wharf serving crab cakes, fried chicken, hams, clams and beverages. The theater will present a drama on the Battle of Fort McHenry and a motion picture on the writing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Safety Goal Reached At Luke Mill

Employes of the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper reached a major safety milestone at 8 a.m. yesterday when they completed 72 days and a total of 1,000,000 man hours work without a lost-time accident or disabling injury.

Although this is just the second time in the 75-year history of the mill that such a milestone has been attained, both records have been set within a period of one year.

In announcing the record William M. Thompson, production manager, explained that the last lost-time accident occurred at 9:30 a. m. March 6, 1962, and that the 2,400 employes of the mill have amassed the 1,000,000 accident-free man hours in the period since and are still going.

The Luke mill reached its first such accident-free record in the 70 days prior to October 8, 1962. At that time employes carried the unblemished record beyond October 8 for a total of 1,181,000 accident-free hours in 82 days.

Plant safety officials yesterday expressed hope that employes could go on to break the earlier record set last summer and fall.

Lester Anderson, training and safety manager, pointed out that the Luke mill has reached first place in the company-wide safety contest for average safety improvements over the last five years. This is the first time that the plant has ever been on top in the 11-way safety competition.

Claimant Wins Injury Appeal

An Allegany County jury on Thursday favored the claimant in an appeal from a decision of the Workmen's Compensation Commission which was heard in Circuit Court.

The jurors decided that the nature and extent of the claimant's permanent disability as a result of an accidental injury June 4, 1960 was 92 per cent.

Alfred S. Summerfield, 64, of Rawlings, was employed by Conda O. Smith, home builder of Rawlings, when the accident occurred, and he fractured both legs and an arm when he fell from a roof to the ground a distance of 18 feet.

The Commission ruled the claimant was permanently totally disabled and ordered compensation for permanent disability at the rate of $40 a week not to exceed $30,000.

The appeal was filed by the employer and insurer, Nationwide Mutual Insurance Inc.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the trial.

Flintstone Library Discussed

Plans for the proposed central library for the elementary school were discussed at the final meeting of the Flintstone PTA, conducted by Mrs. Florence Robinette, Thursday evening. James White, principal, said the room has been chosen, but must be approved by the Board of Education. Joseph Downey has checked the available space. Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, will visit the school in the near future to determine the most desirable location for the library.

He also noted that four schools are in the process of starting such a library. There is a possibility of a workshop being conducted at Flintstone this summer, under the direction of Miss Mary Graham, state supervisor of libraries.

Mrs. Dorothy Smith, chairman of the library committee, presented her observations after visiting the library at Northeast School, which she said is managed entirely by sixth grade children. Mrs. Smith also told of Miss Graham's visit with faculty recently and her discussion of the work involved in setting up a library. Teachers are sorting the books in preparation for cleaning, mending and cataloguing them.

Parents volunteered to help with the project. They are Mrs. Florence Robinette, Mrs. Earl Adams, Mrs. Kenneth McLaughlin, Mrs. Donald Buser, Mrs. Herman Sowers, Mrs. Charles Cole and Mrs. Kermit McCartney.

It was announced that a candy sale will be held following the Steckman Dance Revue May 23 at 8:15 p. m. for the benefit of the PTA. The candy is to be given to Mrs. Henry Davis. Mr. White installed Mrs. Kermit Burgess as treasurer and Mrs. Robert Heavner, secretary.

The newly decorated health room was opened for inspection, followed by a musical program by the various grades, under the direction of Monroe Harris, music teacher.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Magic Of Rouge

Because color is so often misapplied, many a woman who needs the glow of rouge avoids it altogether. The circles, streaks and patches that we see all to a frequently should serve not to warn one against the use of rouge but merely against its abuse.

To simulate the look of good health that is the basis from which all beauty and glamour spring, dot on cream, fluid or liquid rouge over a smooth film of powder base. To learn the best placement of dots, use this guide:

If your face is square or rectangular, place a dot of rouge in line with the outside edge of the pupil and just under the circle beneath the eye. Put another dot at the highest point of your cheekbone. Add a third an inch below the second. After blending, this placement rounds the square face and shortens the rectangular one.

To minimize width in the cheekbone areas of a triangular, diamond or round face, dot rouge under the circle at the inside edge of the pupil, at the inside edge of the cheekbone and at a point one-half inch below the second dot.

Smile to find the correct placement in an oval face. On the puff in your cheek created by your smile, plot out a small, three-dot triangle.

After placement of dots, blending comes next. For this, use the tips of your third and fourth fingers in light, upward strokes, softening the edges until the beginning and ending are undetectable. To make sure of your success, inspect your results by daylight or strong lamplight. Be satisfied with nothing more — or less — than a delicate blush — that's when rouge becomes the beautifier it should be.

Calculate Color Schemes to flatter your complexion and fascinate your escort with the "Personal Colorscope" found only in the booklet, "Your Color Type." To get your copy, send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to John Robert Powers in care of this newspaper.

Hixon, Miss Wella Cook, Mrs. Estelle Daugherty, Mrs. Evelyn Faw, Mrs. Barbara Marshall, Mrs. Elizabeth Dye, Mrs. Lillie Stitcher, Miss Idella Kolb, Mrs. R. B. Holshu and Mrs. Isora Wilson.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy 17 who doesn't know who else to turn to with my problem.

My mother and dad are divorced. Two years ago my mother started to go with a man who drank a lot and treated her mean. She stopped going with him a couple months ago and I was very happy about the break-up because he is just plain no good.

Last weekend I was out of town visiting some relatives and when I came home I found my mother entertaining this man. It was 2:00 A. M. and they were both drunk. I slept in the car because it was obvious that the man had moved in bag and baggage.

My mother says she will gladly sign enlistment papers so I can go right into the army. I'm doing well in school and I know how important a diploma is. I can't stand to live under the same roof with my mother and this man but I have nowhere to go. Please advise me. — HOMELESS

Dear Homeless: If your high school has no guidance counselor, speak to the principal or your favorite teacher immediately. Perhaps foster home arrangements can be made for you.

If this is not possible, the army has a special plan which will enable you to get your diploma while in the service. The important thing is to get the diploma. Drop-outs usually stagnate at a low-paying level and are trapped there forever.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for a long time hoping someone would write in about my problem. But no one has, so I have decided to write myself.

I am a person who is content to listen to others talk. More than once my evening has been ruined by someone who says, "Why don't you ever say anything? You're so quiet!" Such a remark makes me feel like a fool. The implication is that I am silent because I am stupid.

Some people aren't capable of saying witty or amusing things. I am one of those people and I know it, so instead of chiming in with some inane, senseless comment I just listen. How I wish I could think of a squelcher when rude people make a point of my silence. Can you help? — THE LISTENER

Dear Listener: Try this when some loquacious, insensitive slob needles you about your silence:

"You'd be surprised how much a person can learn by keeping his mouth shut. You ought to try it sometime."

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated with the letter signed "Sister" because I had the identical problem. It never occurred to me that even one other person could have been in such a fix. I, too had a brother who was a problem to the whole family. He wouldn't stay in school and he kept getting into trouble. When I married, my husband and I became his legal guardians and he made his home with us. I got him to see a psychiatrist and he made remarkable progress.

After a year he was vastly improved. My mother then insisted that we let her have him back. He didn't want to go but the family pressure was so heavy we gave in.

It was a horrible mistake for which I will be everlastingly ashamed. My brother is now a total loss to the human race, and I am responsible. How I wish I had stood my ground and not allowed my mother to finish the job of wrecking my brother's life completely. — WEIGHED AND FOUND WANTING

Dear Friend: Your letter may give someone else the strength to stand firm — so you have performed a valuable service.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Priest Plans Peace Corps Auto Drive

By BEN LAIME

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A Jesuit missionary priest from St. Louis, who thinks more Americans should visit the people of Latin America, plans to drive a Peace Corps car to Honduras this month.

The Rev. Charles Prendergast, a missionary in the province of Yoro in Honduras the past seven years, thinks his gesture may help.

"Let's hope this little car will do a lot of good," he said, "in cementing relations with our Latin-American brothers."

Father Prendergast says Latin Americans respect nations which use power.

"When I say they like power," he said, "I cite for example the invasion of the Bay of Pigs in Cuba. Every child in my schoolroom lost some respect for the United States then, not because we invaded—but because we failed."

He feels persons in his mission have no more affection for the United States than they have for Cuba. "While their enthusiasm for Cuba may be cooling, there is no corresponding rise in their affection for the United States," he said.

One reason for this feeling, Father Prendergast said, is that Americans who live in Latin America—civilians, military and State Department officials—remain aloof.

"For example, the people of Yoro to my knowledge have never seen the American ambassador," he said. "For that matter, they have seen few people from the embassy. We just don't get around to see the right people—the working class."

He sees some hope in the Peace Corps, but admits "it won't be an instantaneous thing. The members of the Peace Corps in Honduras are taken as individuals and not as representatives of the powerful American government."

THE FAST PACE OF LIFE

You'll find lots of people concerned about the tempo of life today. But most of them simply catch a breath when they can, and try to keep up with the pace.

There is something more important!

The winner trains . . . and plans his race. He may lag behind for a while, but he is confident of hidden resources. When others have burned up their energy and enthusiasm, he forges to the front. As they wilt in the home stretch, he sprints across the finish line.

The Church can help you train . . . and plan! A Christian is concerned with his own spiritual stamina rather than the fast pace of life. He is ready with hidden resources when the moment of challenge comes.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Federal Help Is Sought For LaVale Project

The LaVale Sanitary Commission has requested federal aid in connection with expansion of water service improvements in the suburban community.

Whitman, Requardt and Associates, consulting engineers of Baltimore, wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners concerning the project.

Total cost of the improvements is estimated at $307,000 and federal aid of $118,000 is being requested under the Accelerated Public Works Program and the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The balance of $189,000 will be raised through a bond issue which will be floated by the county commissioners. The bond issue, of course, will be repaid by the residents of the LaVale area under the legislation which set up the sanitary unit.

The improvements planned by the sanitary unit will include, but are not limited, to water line reinforcements in Park Heights, Weires Avenue, Braddock Run and other areas of LaVale.

Extension of water service to the Charles Street area, the enlargement of one pumping station, the addition of new controls to permit more efficient use of water from Labor Springs are also on the agenda.

None of these projects has any connection with the sewage project for LaVale.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the county board, has written the LaVale agency stating the commissioners will float the bond issue. This assurance is needed in connection with obtaining the federal grant.

Farmers' net income for 1962 is about the same as for 1961 and higher than any other year since 1953.

Life Termer Seeks New Trial Here

A 39-year-old former Cumberland man sentenced to life imprisonment in 1954 took his case for a new trial before Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Victor Calvin Whittaker, through his attorney, Milton Gerson, contended that he was inadequately represented prior to and during his trial on July 23, 1954, and also charged that there was collusion between his attorney at that time and the state's attorney's office.

Whittaker was found guilty of statutory rape and sentenced on August 18, 1954 by Judge Morgan C. Harris to life imprisonment.

Whittaker testified yesterday in his appeal for a new trail under the Post Conviction Procedure Act that he had assumed his attorney in 1954 was court-appointed. That was Earle E. Manges.

He stated that he was arrested on July 16, 1954, and signed a confession in the office of the state's attorney, at that time, Paul M. Fletcher. Manges had notarized the statement.

He also declared that Manges visited him only once between the date of his arrest and the date the petition for an immediate trial was filed, July 21, 1954.

That was for "ten or 15 minutes" in the County Jail. Whittaker also stated that on the date of his trial, July 23, 1954, Manges did not explain to him that statutory rape was a crime punishable by death and also did not outline to him the difference between entering guilty or nolo contendere pleas.

Testimony showed that Manges entered a guilty plea at first, but later changed it to nolo contendere.

Manges testified for the state and said he had been retained by Mrs. Dorothy Dolly, Whittaker's ex-wife who has since divorced him.

According to his records, Manges said he had visited Whittaker in the jail and had discussed the case with him at length on July 20, the day before the petition for immediate trial was filed.

The local lawyer also said that he could find no record where he had been paid for representing Whittaker.

Judge Cobey had excluded all witnesses, and Mrs. Dolly was called to the stand where under questioning she said Manges had been retained by her aunt, the late Ora Maria McElfish.

Mrs. Dolly said her aunt wanted to keep the case against her former husband quiet and get it disposed of in a hurry to protect the family's name.

Gerson in his final argument pointed out that Manges in effect was representing two persons, Miss McElfish and Whittaker, but the convicted man believed until Tuesday that Manges had been court-appointed.

He also pointed to Manges spending only 15 minutes with a client who was facing a charge that could, upon conviction, bring the death penalty.

Judge Cobey said he would take the case under advisement.

Vandalism Suspected In PE Trouble

Maryland State Police are investigating the possibility that vandalism caused the interruption of electric service to nearly 5,000 customers here Monday.

Edward L. Ewald, district manager of Potomac Edison Company, said today that a thorough investigation of Monday's outage indicated that vandals were the cause of the interruption, which affected some customers for as much as two hours or more.

State Police were called into the situation by Ewald and an investigation is underway.

Customers of Potomac Edison affected by the outage were generally in the North Cumberland section, including Sacred Heart Hospital; also Corriganville, Ellerslie and Hyndman (Pa.) areas.

The trouble began at about 7:15 p. m. when electric flashes were reported in the Kelly Boulevard area, and unusual conditions were noted at the company's River Plant here. At about 7:45 p. m. several sections of transmission line (34,500 volts) were knocked out of service, a major distribution system in the area and two substations were interrupted.

The cause of the interruption was finally traced to an area near Corriganville. Here, PE personnel and a State Police investigator found several small sapling trees, fashioned into makeshift spears, underneath a section of the 34,500 volt line from North Cumberland to Corriganville. The spears were charred from apparent contact with the high voltage electric lines and were directly underneath burn marks found on top of the conductors at this location.

"It can only be assumed," Ewald said, "that a person or persons were attempting to throw these spears over top of the lines, and in doing so, created a serious situation."

According to Ewald, the spears could have caused a short on the lines, which eventually created vibration of the conductors, swinging them together and causing them to burn down. This, in fact, did occur, Ewald said, on the 34,500-volt line at the railroad crossing on Kelly Boulevard. When this high voltage line burned, it fell into the lower voltage distribution lines interrupting service to customers.

By various switching operations, PE was able to restore service quickly to some customers. All individual customers were restored to service by 10:30 p. m. All lines and substations were back in normal operation the next morning, except the Patterson Avenue street lighting circuit which was severely damaged and not completely repaired until Tuesday evening.

"For some time now," Ewald said, "we have been cautioning parents here regarding various isolated instances of vandalism by youngsters such as shooting at insulators, flying kites near lines, and throwing objects at lines. This, however, was an apparent case of unwarranted vandalism that created a major inconvenience to a large number of people."

"Quite naturally we are concerned when any one single customer is without service," he continued, "but the loss of service to businesses and especially to Sacred Heart Hospital is of vital concern not only to us, but to law enforcement officials. We plan to pursue this investigation to its completion."

Assistant To Mathias Visits Here Monday

Albert S. Mullican, district assistant to Congressman Charles McC. Mathias, will be in the congressman's office at the Post Office Building Monday from 10 a. m. to noon.

An appointment is not necessary, Mullican said.

Today is Armed Forces Day and the local Maryland National Guard unit will hold open house at its new armory on Brown Avenue in observance of the holiday.

Lt. Harold L. Scott, commander of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, said the open house will be held from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Besides the quarters at the armory, Lt. Scott said visitors can view displays on the drill floor. These will include rifles, pistols, sniperscopes, rocket launcher, sub-machine guns, 50 calibre machine guns and 4.2 mortars.

Individual field equipment will be displayed, as will radios, the company commander stated. Also available for inspection will be the company's two M-48 tanks.

Headquarters Company, part of the First Battalion, 115th Armor, consists of 183 enlisted men and officers.

Bid Is Accepted

The bid of the McClung-Logan Company, Baltimore, to furnish an air compressor to the county for a low bid of $3,250 was accepted yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. It will be used by the Roads Department.

Customs' New Welcome Mat

While American innkeepers, railroad, bus and airline operators were schooling their employes in the art of making foreign tourists feel welcome, at customs it was business as usual. That meant paperwork and delay, also a not-so-glowing image of American hospitality which the U. S. Travel Service has been trying to sell abroad.

Fortunately, the absurdity of the situation penetrated to sufficiently high levels in Washington to get some action. Now the Treasury Department is trying to eliminate some of the customs paperwork that caused so much of the tourist delay. Starting June 1, travelers entering the country with $100 or less in foreign purchases will not have to fill out that long declaration form.

They will just identify themselves on a card, hand it to their friendly customs inspector, and tell him what purchases they're bringing in. The inspector will check to verify the oral declaration, and then, presumably with the customary smile or warm handshake, send them on their way.

For travelers bringing in more than $100 in purchases, however, it's the same old form. But even here, and already in effect, is a welcome reform. Now, instead of paying duty based on wholesale prices only customs men seemed to know, the inbound traveler will pay on the retail price, less a 40 per cent discount. If nothing else, it will lessen the suspense for the traveler.

These are heartening indications the government is sincere in promising foreign tourists real hospitality in the U. S. A. And it's pleasant to discover that this new hospitality at the customs station is for American citizens, too.

These Days

The Power In The People

"How do you write a daily column without living in Washington? That's where all the important decisions are made?"

"Come now, you don't really think that the people could get along without Washington controlling the business system? What would you do with all the surplus population?"

These are sample questions that a general columnist gets, particularly from among the young who have studied economics under that generation of college professors who achieved their academic tenure in the Rooseveltian era. The questions can be answered, but I find it takes examples, not deductions from principles, to make a dent in the opposition.

Sometimes the example is provided by a bit of luck, as happened the other day when an undergraduate from an eastern college was visiting at our house. She was astounded when I insisted in the course of a discussion that unemployment is government-made, deriving from such things as Washington support of union demands that result in labor being priced out of the market. Everything I said caused her eyebrows to go up by at least an inch. The idea that tax policy can stop investment and so keep job opportunities from being created had not been mentioned by her professors, and when I brought it up she countered with the "tax and spend" purchasing power theory that was popular in the Thirties and still haunts the college economic curriculum today.

The efforts to answer theory with counter-theory ended in a complete stalemate. But the next day two old men knocked at the door. They had driven up in a beat-up jalopy, and their old clothes were spattered with paint. One of them limped. Pointing to our mailbox, which was a little the worse for wear, they said they were mailbox painters who would do a good job with aluminum paint and nice block lettering for only two dollars.

After they had finished the work of making the mailbox glisten like new, we talked a bit. It was obvious that the men felt trapped in a bureaucratic system that made them unemployable by anyone who would have to put their names down in a book. Minimum wage laws, the necessity of paying them the employer-contributed share of social security, the need to guarantee union-forced fringe benefits, and other such things, militated against the chance that either one of the old men would get a permanent job.

Yet, in traveling around the back country painting mailboxes, the old men exhibited a good deal of exhilaration. Here they were taking care of themselves and making a living. It wasn't a marvelous living, but they had thought up the idea themselves, and they talked about it with the pride of free men.

The effect on the college student was unmistakable. The old men had done more to make a point than all the theory that had been spouted the night before.

Now, the columnist who lives in Washington, like the administrators who surround him, does not ordinarily run into old men in paint-spattered overalls who have found a way to keep going on their own. It will not do, of course, to make too much of the isolated example of the mailbox painters. But they will serve as a symbol. And the important thing is that they are only one symbol among many.

Take some recent developments in higher education, for instance. In Washington they tell you that the colleges can't get along without federal help. But I know of at least three instances in which colleges have been started from scratch in recent years without a penny of federal aid. One of them has staffed a good faculty by hiring wide-awake professors who have been retired from other colleges. And in some places universities, seeking to give maximum service without asking the government for new funds to build classrooms, have inaugurated a three-semester system, keeping open all summer.

I once lived and worked in Washington, and I still go there at intervals. But I have never contracted "Potomac fever." I like to live among people who go to work in factories. I like smoke and industrial clutter and the sight of people taking care of themselves.

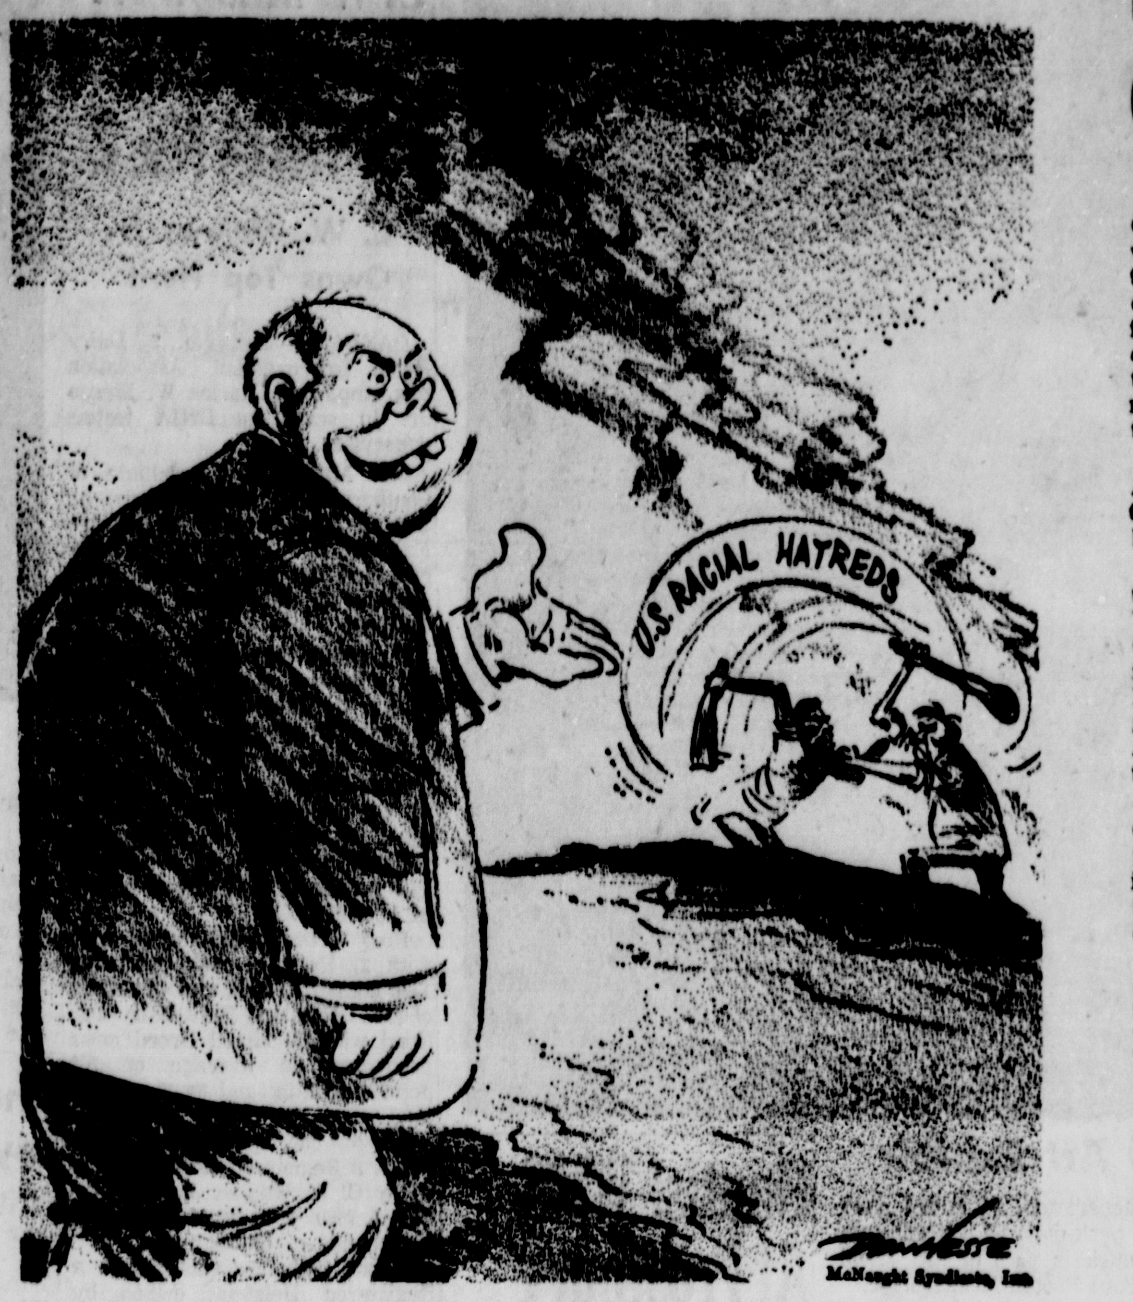
'Now That's My Kind Of Co-Existence'



The Beginning Of A Demonological Revolution

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Like most experts, the professional students of the Soviet Union sometimes go wrong; but at all times the findings of the new demonologists greatly influence Western policy. Hence the beginning of something like a demonological revolution is well worth recording.

In brief, more and more of the Soviet experts, including some who are very highly placed in the U. S. governments, are moving towards the view that the Soviet armed forces now play a major role in the inner-politics of the Kremlin.

The probably impending promotion of Dimitri F. Ustinov to membership in the ruling Soviet Presidium is a new case in point. Before he emerged from obscurity as boss of all Soviet industrial production and one of the three Deputy Premiers, Ustinov had served the Soviet armed forces, without a day's interruption since as long ago as 1940.

Arms production for the armed forces was his sole job before his recent promotion. He has had no previous party past. Hence Ustinov's nomination to the Presidium, if it occurs, will be roughly comparable to the new Air Force's persuading President Kennedy to take the head of the Boeing Company as one of his principal political aides.

In other words, it is difficult to dodge the conclusion that Ustinov will have the role of the Soviet Defense Ministry's representative on the Presidium. That conclusion fits neatly with another curious fact.

The Soviet Defense Minister, Marshal Rodion Malinkovsky, who is not a Presidium member, nonetheless attended all the Soviet leaders' meetings with Fidel Castro, even though the most important meetings were otherwise restricted to Nikita S. Khrushchev and two other Presidium members, Leonid I. Brezhnev and Alexei N. Kosygin. This sudden omnipresence of Malinovsky also fits, in turn, with still another fact that is even more curious.

While in Indonesia, Malinovsky is known to have shown grave concern, lest he meet the fate of Marshall Georgi Zhukov on his return to the Soviet Union. If Malinovsky had not been asserting himself politically, as Zhukov did before his downfall, why should he have feared Zhukov's fate?

In truth, the weight of the facts is very heavy on the side of the new trend of demonological thought. It is a revolutionary trend, simply because all but the tiniest minority of students of Soviet affairs have always believed, hitherto, that the armed forces had no political role or influence whatever. This was true, of course, when the Soviet military leaders, like every other element in Soviet society, were frozen into silent, unarguing obedience by Stalin's terror.

In reality, the demonological belief of the Soviet armed forces' divorce from politics ceased to be valid soon after Stalin died. In the subsequent struggle for power, the successive upward steps of Khrushchev were exactly paralleled by the rise of Marshal Zhukov. While Khrushchev climbed to supreme power, Zhukov rose from Deputy Minister of Defense (to which he returned from exile as soon as Stalin died), to Defense Minister, to candidate member of the Presidium, to full member of the Presidium after he had saved Khrushchev from the anti-party group in 1957.

To be sure, Khrushchev then secretly organized the destruction of Zhukov, probably with Malinovsky's help. But this macabre end of the story in no way dilutes the evidence that Zhukov, representing the armed forces, was a major factor in Khrushchev's rise from the very outset of the succession crisis.

It seems more and more probable that there was another inner-political crisis in the Kremlin this winter — a crisis in which the armed forces were once again a major factor, temporarily supporting the now-stricken Frol Kozlov in opposition to Khrushchev. It also seems probable that Khrushchev paid a heavy price to retain control of the situation, including agreement to the large increase in Soviet defense spending which is now generally forecast.

Even those demonologists who have reluctantly begun to concede a political role to the Soviet armed forces are not of course talking about the militarization of Soviet society. They are merely arguing that the Soviet military have considerable political weight —political weight which may become decisive when the party leadership is divided, and it is cast into one side of the balance or the other.

Even so, the concession now being made is both major and chilling. It is chilling, in particular, because each new crisis of succession will give the Soviet military a new opportunity to exploit their political weight by backing one of the contenders, as Zhukov backed Khrushchev.

This cannot happen very often without tending towards militarization. Hence what happens when Khrushchev goes — and he is 69 and overweight — will be most interesting to watch.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

KID STUFF—Quite often, a bill comes before the Senate or House which would require excessive disclosures of legal penalties that are leveled against youths. And each time, senators and congressmen are quick to rush to the defense of youth and in the process to confess some of their own youthful peccadillos.

When the Youth Employment Bill was up for debate in the Senate recently, consideration turned to a provision that those accepted "be of good character."

Up jumped Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield who disclosed he had been court-martialed twice before he was 16 years old. And then Sen. Barry Goldwater arose to re-tell of the night he spent in a Mexican jail because he had inadvertently hit a policeman with a mustard pot.

With these examples of the kind of good men who can emerge from callow youths, their defenders had no difficulty in changing the provision so that it would bar only those persons with serious criminal records.

Don't Give Liquid To An Unconscious Person

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

A Chicagoan writes: "Five months ago I was the victim of an overdose of drugs. I lapsed into unconsciousness and no one was able to bring me to until someone suggested vinegar. It was poured down my throat, some of it going down the wrong way.

"When I finally regained consciousness my mouth and throat felt as though I had gargled with sulfuric acid. I was coughing, gagging, and vomiting continuously and could not eat or drink anything. In time, cough and shortness of breath became so bad I was unable to walk up a flight of stairs without becoming exhausted.

"After two months of this I decided to go to the doctor, who X-rayed my chest and told me I had pneumonia, caused by inhaling vinegar. After 21 days in the hospital and being up and about for four months I still hear a few rumbling and rattling sounds in my chest. The doctor says I'm making good progress but I'm somewhat alarmed and suspicious. Should I see another doctor?"

A consultation may be in order unless additional X-rays have been made and definite progress is noted. In the circumstances, you are doing as well as can be expected. You must be suspicious of all physicians, considering the length of time you waited after passing out and developing aspiration pneumonia. There might be some permanent damage to your lungs as a result of your procrastination or negligence.

Several lessons can be learned from this reader's experience, so it has not been in vain. The first is not to give fluids to an unconscious person. He cannot swallow and some of the liquid is likely to go down the windpipe into the lungs, irritating the membranes and leading to pneumonia.

An overdose of drugs that causes unconsciousness is serious enough to call a physician or a poison control center in one of the hospitals. In this instance, the contents of the drug must have been known and the best antidote could have been given.

SORE, WEAK ARM

L. S. writes: My husband has had Buerger's disease for years. Now his right arm is painful and has lost much of its muscle. Do you think the disease is spreading?

REPLY

It could be, if there is evidence that poor circulation is the cause of his distress. But Buerger's disease victims are not immune to neuritis, bursitis, or other painful conditions.

INFECTED BRONCHI

M. P. writes: How does bronchiectasis differ from chronic bronchitis?

REPLY

It is more serious because the bronchi are dilated, allowing more secretions to accumulate. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bronchiectasis.

HYPERREACTS TO STRESS

S. N. writes: If a person's blood pressure rises during a period of stress, will it go down without medicine after the stormy period passes?

REPLY

Yes, but the fact that it went up means that this individual is a hyperreactor and a good candidate for hypertension in the future.

TUMOR GROWTH

E. G. writes: How fast do tumors grow? I was told three years ago I have one.

REPLY

Some grow fast and others slowly. The rate depends upon the type and whether the lesion is benign or malignant.

MIGRAINE

M. W. writes: I'm 58 and about once a month get a headache on one side that keeps me in bed all day. I've doctored for this trouble but still get the attacks. Have you any advice that would help?

REPLY

The modern physician has more to offer than aspirin. The cause must be determined before the cure can be found. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on migraine.

OVERCOMING SHYNESS

E. P. writes: Where can a person go for help in overcoming shyness?

REPLY

A finishing or a secretarial school. What's wrong with being shy? A psychiatrist is needed only if a person is abnormally timid.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

How much does Adlai Stevenson enjoy living in New York? Well, he recently told a story in Washington — and with relish, too — about a family about to move to Manhattan. The young daughter was saying her very last prayer in her old home. It went as follows: "Bless my daddy, bless my mommy, bless my brother Freddy. And now, dear Lord. I'll have to say goodbye to You. We are moving to New York. Amen."

A farmer's wife went stark raving mad one morning. As she was being led away by attendants from the nearest asylum her husband scratched his head in perplexity and muttered, "I'm danged if I kin figger what's gotten into the old girl. She ain't bin out of this kitchen in thutty-two years!"

Screen producer Robert Lord, wearying of the hopelessly padded movies he's been exposed to in recent seasons, finally was moved to expressing himself in verse:

"For me there has developed
  an odd lack of lustre
In the five-hour, five-buck
  a seat block-buster.
Big and long is what mass-
  audiences are said to like
But my gluteus muscles have gone on strike.
For us old and cynical
  the hope is not bright
To go see a movie and get home the same night."

Negro Newspaper Is Planting Seeds Of Future Race Riots In Washington

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Behind Adam Clayton Powell's recent speech warning of race riots in Washington is a significant chain of circumstances. They add up to the fact that if Birmingham-type riots do come to the nation's capital, the leading Negro newspaper, Afro-American, will deserve much of the blame.

For more than a year the Afro-American has been publishing the type of news conducive to racial bitterness.

"No newspaper has done more to hurt better race relations in Washington than the Afro," says Commissioner John Duncan, the first Negro to serve on the D. C. Board of Commissioners which governs the nation's capital. "The Afro has been trying for a year to talk up a riot."

However, it has not succeeded. On the contrary, the Negro newspaper has aroused such antagonism in the Negro community that its advertising has been dropping off.

Washington has probably ironed out its racial problems with less friction than any other city along the edge of the Mason-Dixon line. Even before the Supreme Court's school integration decision of April 1954, approximately 67 areas of the community had been integrated. But Negro readers would never know about this from reading the Afro-American.

Because of the paper's emphasis on racial bitterness, Negro leaders called a meeting with Chuck Stone, editor of the Afro, and asked him to tone down his blatant editorials and scare headlines. Stone refused.

"It's the only way to sell newspapers," he replied.

However, when the Afro began attacking such friends of the Negro as "Jiggs" Donhue, former commissioner of the District; Aaron Goldman, president of the Human Relation Council; and John Hayes, president of WTOP, former head of the United Givers Fund and a pioneer for better race relations, various, firms began canceling ads.

It was at this point that editor Stone invited Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem and Rep. Charles Diggs of Detroit to attend a dinner in honor of editor Stone. Chief purpose of the dinner was to win back Negro support and especially advertising. It was here that Powell made his rabble-rousing speech warning of "one of the worst race riots in the history of America" unless racial tensions are removed in Washington.

The dinner honoring Stone had the partial effect of restoring some advertising to the Afro. Carl Shipley, D. C. Republican chairman, persuaded some advertisers to return. He considers the Afro-American a great asset for the GOP. Other advertisers which have stuck with the Afro are Pepsi-Cola, Esso, Studebaker, Seagrams, and Schenley.

Meanwhile, the Afro-American is still playing up news of the Black Muslims almost as if Stone were a member, still excoriating the first Negro commissioner in history, John Duncan, and still fanning the flames of racial prejudice.

Cardinal Cushing On Schools

President Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard came to Washington last week to dine with his most distinguished alumnus, John F. Kennedy, and incidentally to do a little lobbying.

Talking to Sen. Joseph Clark of Philadelphia, formerly a Harvard overseer, president Pusey said: "I hope you're going to pass the higher education bill."

"You've got a conflict of interest there, haven't you?" shot back Sen. Clark, obviously kidding.

"Of course," replied Pusey.

"But what are we going to do about these parochial schools?" inquired the Senator from Pennsylvania.

"Talk to Cardinal Cushing about that," replied the president of Harvard who lives in Cushing's archdiocese. "He says the Catholics are about ready to throw in the sponge. Cushing says, 'We've built schools with slave labor and staffed them with priests long enough. It's time to get back to the public school system.'"

Merry-Go-Round

When Newt Minow came to see Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., to notify him of his exit as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, he explained that Bill Benton, head of Encyclopedia Britannica, wanted to work for UNESCO so needed Minow to run the bookshop. "I am sure going to raise cain with Benton when I see him," chided Magnuson. "Bill has been complaining for years that television was lousy and now he robs the government of the man who has done most to improve TV." . . . Lee Loevinger, who transferred from the Justice Department to the FCC, was once a good trust-buster, but got timid as head of the Antitrust Division under Bob Kennedy. . . . . William E. Henry of Memphis who now becomes chairman of the FCC, was campaign manager for JFK in western Tennessee. When Bob Kennedy was looking for a man to put on the FCC last year he phoned a White House staffer and asked, "Who was that live-wire young fellow who helped us down in Tennessee?" The name which Bobby couldn't remember was William E. Henry. Don't say the Kennedy's aren't loyal to their friends, even if they can't remember names. . . . . and how they hate their enemies! . . . . Bobby still can't get over anyone who has ever criticized his father. . . . Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., is so dedicated to his job as Democratic leader of the Senate that he may dedicate himself out of the Senate. The John Birchers are busy building up opposition to Mike in Montana, and Mike is so busy trying to pass the Kennedy program that he can't go home to mend his fences.

Writers And Films

By John Crosby

PARIS

J. P. Miller, who wrote one of the best of the old "Playhouse 90" originals, "Days of Wine and Roses," which later became a movie, is in Paris working on a screenplay.

"I'm trying to become a filmwright," he told me. "I'm going to stay on at my own expense and watch Fred Winneman direct and produce 'Behold a Pale Horse' because I want to find out how to do those things. I invented that word filmwright. Because there ought to be a word for it, but actually there are some filmwrights already. Fellini in Rome. That Swedish fellow — what his name?" (Ingmar Bergman.) " Billy Wilder is one. And among the younger ones — Bill Brooks. He's a hell of a fellow, Bill Brooks. I don't want to write a film. I want to make it."

I said that this was the endless plaint of the writer in Hollywood. I had just finished reading S. J. Perelman's magnificent diatribe against Hollywood in "Writers at Work ("Hideous . . . untenable . . . unspeakable . . . dreary industrial town controlled by hoodlums of enormous wealth, the ethical sense of a pack of jackals, and taste so degraded that it befouled everything it touched")

"That's so old-fashioned," complained Miller. "I rail more at the carcinoginous atmosphere now than the working conditions. The damned air there is a correspondence course in lung cancer. In my day, I've blistered Hollywood just as thoroughly as Perelman. But I've decided that Hollywood gets less painful the more you're accepted there. Actually, I go out there to see all my old New York friends."

I said that a writer's lot, or at least his social position, had improved since Perelman's day. "No, it hasn't," sad Miller sadly "A writer in Hollywood is like a mistress. He's necessary, but he's not mentioned. They like to avoid the fact that those words coming out of some beautiful actress's mouth were ever just words on paper. But writers have asked for it. They've been snooty about making pictures."

Miller said he thought that if a writer cared about his work he ought to care about what happens to it. "Some of our classiest movie directors, ike Zinneman, are not writers. Their secret is to make the material their own. Every twist and turn of it — or they won't play."

I asked him if he disliked what directors did to his work. "Sometimes I like it. Sometimes I dislike it. But that's not the point. It's lonely up in that cubicle writing.

"I don't like not being part of it. I'm not really interested just in putting words on a piece of paper. I want to make a film—the whole bit. They're having all the fun of the thing. I'm in a cell like a monk in a cubicle.

"Anyway, I think I can direct and produce as well as they can. A playwright controls his script. They can't do a thing without his permission. Why can't a filmwright. It's not a new idea, but the writers don't follow through on it. The few that have done it—Fellini, Brooks, Bergman, Wilder—have done extra-ordinary films and they're all extraordinary men.

"I see writers after a screening of their scripts. They tell me: the director has missed all the points. My point is: why weren't they there?"

College Groups Seek Funds For Student

Foreign Exchange Plan Is Proposed

FROSTBURG — The Foreign Student Committee at Frostburg State Teachers College will conduct a week-long community-wide drive starting today to raise funds to bring a student from an underdeveloped country to the campus next year.

"Members of the International Relations Club and Sigma Tau Gamma will solicit contributions toward their goal of $850 to bring a student to Frostburg," stated Miss Joan Williams, IRC president. "To date, IRC and Sigma Tau Gamma, co-sponsors of the drive, have raised $300 for this purpose."

The Foreign Student Committee would like to bring the student from an under-developed country because it is in these countries such as India that the need for teacher education is greatest. Such countries find it very hard to have funds released for travel abroad because of lack of dollars on the international exchange.

"A post graduate student may obtain funds more readily than an undergraduate," pointed out Miss Williams. "Our present prospect is Mrs. Grace Clark from India, who is a graduate of the University of Madras and is currently teaching in her native land.

"The main reason for a foreign student is academic exchange, with social contact secondary and complementary to this exchange," said the IRC president.

Both Sigma Tau Gamma and IRC have given $25 toward the drive and individuals and other campus organizations have made contributions.

Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner Again Heads Garrett Co. Mental Health Chapter

Named to serve with Mrs. Baumgartner was Rev. Shelby Walthall and Mrs. Julius Renninger, vice presidents; Mrs. William Naylor, recording secretary; George Littman, treasurer, and Mrs. Julius Renninger, campaign chairman, all of Oakland, and the following directors:

Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, Mrs. Henry McComas, Mrs. O. T. Graser, Rev. Michael Carney, Mrs. Harvey Swartzentruber, Merritt Feather, Mrs. William E. Hesen, Mrs. Lewis Jones and Mrs. Charles Briner, all of Oakland.

Mrs. Britten Martin, Mrs. Emmett Barbee and Mrs. Meade Foster, Mt. Lake Park; Mrs. Bernard Guy, Bloomington; Mrs. Harry Seggie, Mrs. Albert Smith and Mrs. B. O. Aiken, Accident; Mrs. Wade Schroyer and Mrs. Eugene Sines, Friendsville.

Mrs. Robert O. Glotfelty, Bittinger; Mrs. David Broadwater, Grantsville; Mrs. Dorothy Reel and Mrs. Earl Shank, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Corann Clatterbuck, Mrs. Darrius Green and Mrs. Harry Lesher, Deer Park.

The nomination committee included Corann A. Clatterbuck, chairman, Mrs. Paul B. Naylor and Mrs. Bernard Guy.

There were 34 voting members at the meeting held in Hinebaugh's Restaurant. The invocation was offered by Rev. Walthall and Mrs. Baumgartner presided at the business session.

The treasurer reported on receipts and disbursements for the past year and it was also reported that 18 Garrett countians were admitted to state mental hospitals in 1962. At present, 68 Garrett countians are state hospital patients.

Guest speaker at the affair was Stephen Rosner, executive director of the Maryland Association of Mental Health.

Mr. Rosner, who came here from Baltimore for this meeting stated that "one out of every ten persons in the United States needs, or will need in his lifetime, some psychiatric help or care for the mentally ill and emotionally disturbed."

He noted that, "a total of $25 million is now spent on Mental Health Care in Maryland every year. Of the total 800 patients in state institutions, as of five years ago, only 50% were getting minimum care."

The association and other health, civic and social agencies, he observed are insisting that the state, along with private charities, increase facilities and care for the mentally ill. A proposal before the governor and General Assembly calls for the state to spend $300,000 for land acquisition and planning for three new Mental Health Centers. If the state adopts the plan and the legislation is passed into law in 1964, the federal government will aid the state with 75% of the cost, Mr. Rosner said.

At the meeting, the association completed plans for their fund campaign, and it was announced that solicitors had been organized and recruited.

Pepitone Belts Two Homers, Yanks Edge LA

New York Wins 5th Straight, 4-3

NEW YORK (UPI)—A pair of two-run homers by Joe Pepitone offset two other homers by Leon Wagner Friday night and enabled the New York Yankees to extend their winning streak to five games with a 4-3 victory over the slumping Los Angeles Angels.

Between them, Pepitone and Wagner accounted for all the runs in the contest and made the difference between right-hander Jim Bouton winning his fourth game and left-hander Mel Nelson losing his first one.

Bouton, recently promoted from the bullpen to starting status, limited the losers to four hits while striking out six and walking three in his second starting assignment of the season. Nelson allowed all five of the Yankees' hits before he departed for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Showers Ruin Rehearsal For '500' Trials

Jones Favored For Pole Position

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Sporadic showers washed out Friday's dress rehearsal for the start of 500-mile race time trials, but lead-footed Parnelli Jones remained the man to beat for the pole position.

Not a wheel was turned at the Speedway and 90 minutes before the scheduled 6 p.m. EST closing of the track, Chief Stewart Fengler closed the racing plant as additional threatening weather closed in.

Failure of the racing fraternity to get on the track robbed itchy drivers and mechanics of nine hours of precious practice time some of them needed to button up their delicate machines for Saturday's start of the time trials.

Qualifications for the Memorial Day chase were scheduled to open at 11 a.m. EST with the weatherman's prediction for partly cloudy and mild and no showers. If the forecast holds, that would make conditions for high speed running ideal, with Jones' record sure to be shattered.

The baldish, 29-year-old pilot from Torrance, Calif., became the first driver to hit 150 m.p.h. in qualifications last year, a feat that netted him the pole posiion as he fastest first-day driver.

Jones set a nine lap mark of 150.729 and a four lap standard of 150.370 last year. He has the same machine this time and has been clocked at speeds of 153.5 m.p.h. in practice, about two miles faster than his closest rival.

Jones predicted that former race winner A. J. Foyt, two-time pole champ Eddie Sachs and Jim McElreath, the 1962 "rookie of the year" here would press him, but he refused to predict what speed he would hit.

At least 20 cars were expected to bid for starting berths Saturday, the first of four qualifying days that will reduce the field of 66 to the 33 fastest.

Bout In Vienna Seen By 7,000

VIENNA (UPI) — Veteran Randy Sandy of New York was outpointed here Friday night in a 10-round non-title fight with unbeaten Laszlo Papp of Hungary, middleweight champion of Europe and the only professional boxer in any Communist country.

Thirty-seven-year-old Papp, five years older than Sandy, extended his unbeaten string to 24 fights, including two draws. His triumph was witnessed by 7,000 spectators in Vienna's Stadthalle.

The stocky, mustachioed Hungarian, who is rated fifth among world 160-pound contenders, dominated the bout throughout and floored slender Sandy with a right to the chin in the fourth round.

Sandy, a former high - ranking contender who had scored victories over Dick Tiger and Emile Griffith in 1959, suffered his 25th defeat in 48 bouts and his seventh loss in his last eight bout .s

Sandy also suffered a deep cut over his left eye in the second round and the wound bled freely throughout the fight. Both he and Papp were splattered with blood from Sandy's cut.

Papp weighed 158 pounds and Sandy, 156½.

U.S. Cagers Bounce Back

Beat France, 81-61, In World Tourney

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—The United States, upset by Yugoslavia on Thursday, bounced back with an easy, 81-61, victory over France Friday night in the world basketball championships.

The Yanks, who won all three of their preliminary round games, thus evening their record at 1-1 in the round-robin play of the final round. Seven teams had to qualify for the final round with Brazil, the host nation, drawing a bye.

Yugoslavia, the surprise of the tourney thus far, scored its second straight victory, an easy 73-57 decision over Puerto Rico.

The United States held a 36-35 lead at halftime but then broke the game wide open in the second half as a full court press threw the French team completely off balance.

Mathias High Wins Sectional Title For 3d Straight Year

Blanks Wardensville, 6-0; Pirates, Keyser To Play Pair Monday

Coach Hoy Dove's Mathias High School tossers won the West Virginia Region 4, Section 1 baseball title for the third straight year and upped their record to 7-2 in the Potomac Valley Conference by defeating Wardensville High School yesterday at the latter place by the score of 6-0 in a game limited to five innings by rain.

Mathias won its fourth sectional game in five starts and clinched a playoff berth against the winner of Section 2 in which Keyser is now the leader. The Hardy countians play their final sectional opponent, Circleville, at Mathias Tuesday. Franklin and Moorefield wound up in a tie for second place with 5-3 records.

Freshmen Lefty Gerald Gum hurled four innings and received credit for his sixth victory against two losses this season. He yielded only two hits. Rodney Sherman pitched the fifth inning. Kenneth Fishel was the loser. The defeat gave Wardensville an 0-4 record in Section 1 and 0-8 mark in the PVC.

Gary Strawderman's three-run homer in the first inning put the game on ice for Mathias.

Jackets Trim Indians

Moorefield High's Yellowjackets made their P. V. C. record 5-5 by downing Circleville's Indians yesterday at Circleville by the score of 5-2 in a game halted by rain after completion of five innings.

Steve Earl went the distance for Coach George Hott's team and turned back the Tribe with three hits. Triples by Bob Moran and Earle were among the eight hits Moorefield garnered from the offerings of Carroll Warner. Circleville had won the series opener by the score of 7-1.

Carl Notches 5th Win

Romney High School's Pioneers swept its season series from Moorefield by trimming the Jackets on Wednesday at Moorefield by the score of 4-1 an a 3-hitter by David Carl, who notched his fifth triumph against a single setback. Carl struck out six and shut out the opposition after the first inning.

Romney and Mathias are now tied for third place in the P.V.C. with 7-2 records. Beall is the leader with 6-1 and Keyser occupies the runner-up spot with five wins and one loss.

Coach Francis Maleonskie's Bayard High School team won the Grant county championship by spilling the Petersburg Vikings by the score of 4-3. Bayard had won the opener of the series, 2-1.

The win gave Bayard a 2-2 record in the P. V. C.

Kopfle Strikes Out 14

Bill Kopfle scattered six hits and struck out 14 Petersburg batsmen to record his second win against one loss. Rippey belted a two-run homer for Bayard in the first inning.

Rain washed out the Keyser at Paw Paw game yesterday in the top of the third inning with Keyser leading 1-0. Terry Turbin was on the firing line for the Golden Tornado and Roland Hamilton did the pitching for the Pirates. Darrell Rotruck's single and Herb Harman's double produced the Keyser run.

Play Twin Bill Monday

This game will be continued as the second game of a twin bill on Monday at Keyser. The first game will get under way at 3:15 p. m., at Clark Stadium. Keyser hosts Petersburg Tuesday, visits St. Peter's for a non-conference game Thursday and will play Romney at Keyser Friday if the game has any bearing on the outcome of the P. V. C. or sectional races. Romney (5-2) and Paw Paw (2-2) are in Section 2 which Keyser now leads with a 3-0 record.

Athletics Halt Red Sox, 2-0

Ted Bowsfield Fires 3-Hitter

BOSTON (UPI) — Kansas City southpaw Ted Bowsfield threw a three - hit shutout Friday night for a 2-0 Athletic victory that broke a five-game Boston win streak and knocked the Red Sox out of first place.

Bowsfield, who had thrown eight innings of no-hit ball in his last start, held the Red Sox to a third inning single by Chuck Schilling, an eighth inning pinch double by Dick Williams, and a ninth inning single by Roman Mejias.

The Kansas City lefthander, a former Boston pitcher, walked three and struck out four en route to his third victory against four losses.

George Alusik's two run double in the third inning was all Bowsfield needed. The Kansas City outfielder lined his big hit to left center after Jerry Lumpe had walked and Norm Siebern had doubled off Boston starter Dave Morehead.

Umpire Bill Valentine threatened to forfeit the game to Kansas City in the ninth inning when an unruly portion of the 24,118 crowd littered center field with beer cans. A 10-man ground crew cleared the debris which ceased after the Valentine threat.

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP)—Roanoke led with 10 qualifiers Friday at the end of the preliminaries for the Mason-Dixon Conference Track and Field Championship.

Six of the Roanoke qualifiers were in the 120-yard and 330-yard hurdles events. Roanoke is the defending champion.

Saturday's events will include the finals for the nine events run Friday and the mile, the two-mile, pole vault, high jump and the mile relay.

Marilynn Smith Trails By Stroke

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UPI)—Mickey Wright of Dallas clung to a one-stroke lead in the $9000 Muskogee Civitan Open golf tournament Friday while early leader Mary Lena Faulk dropped off the pace.

Miss Wright, top money winner on the women's professional golf circuit, shot a five-over par 75 Friday to go with a 70 posted Thursday.

Miss Faulk, who shared the first round lead, ran into trouble Friday and finished with an 85 to push her second round total to 155, ten strokes off the pace.

Marilyn Smith, former Kansas amateur champion, displayed some accurate putting to card the day's best round and move into second place behind Miss Wright. She shot a par 70 for a 36-hole total of 146, one stroke back of Miss Wright.

Two strokes away was Kathy Whitworth, Jal, N. M., who had a 73 Friday for her 148 total.

Devlin Leads Oklahoma City Open Tourney

Aussie Has 139 After 36 Holes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Slender Bruce Devlin fired a 7-under-par 65 Friday to take a two-stroke lead in the $35,000 Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament with a 36-hole total of 139.

Bob Duden, Dow Finsterwald, Rex Baxter Jr. and George Bayer were tied for second at 141. Six players were deadlocked at 142, three strokes off the pace set by the thin Australian.

The 25-year-old Aussie, in his third year as a pro, came back from an opening round 74 to vault into the lead. He had seven birdies, including a 60-foot birdie putt on No. 4. Devlin also holed an eagle on the par 4 No. 11 when his approach hit about two feet past the pin and spun in.

"I never missed a green," Devlin said.

Bob Stone, the first round leader with a 68, ran into putting trouble and soared to a 7-over-par 79. Stone three-putted three times and took at least two puts on every green.

Defending champion Doug Sanders, anxiously playing against time, slumped to a 77 after an opening 69 for a 146 total. Sanders explained he was trying to finish the round in time to meet his young son who was flying here from Denver.

Ken Still, who shot a 69 Thursday over the 7,050-yard, par 36-36—72 Quail Creek Country Club course to tie Sanders, Bayer and host pro Ernie Vossler for second, also soared to a 77. Vossler shot a 74 and was grouped with six others at 143.

Bo Wininger, who failed to break par for his first 27 holes, cut loose on his final nine and set a course record of 31. Wininger ended the day with a 68 and a 144 total at the halfway point.

Rain Threatens To Cut Chances Of Favorites In Preakness Today

Off Track May Give Outsiders Big Opportunity

Winner Of Richest 3-Year-Old Race To Get $127,500

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Rain was added Friday to the probable starters in Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico and posed a new factor in the existing turmoil swirling around the superiority of Chateaugay, Never Bend and Candy Spots.

The possibility of an off track tended more than anything to elevate the chances of some of the five other 3-year-olds who were being practically ignored otherwise.

With a forecast for rain during Friday night, and scattered showers and possible thundershowers Saturday, all eight now were expected to start in the 87th Preakness. The winner's share will be $127,500 out of the total purse of $180,000, richest offered anywhere to 3-year-olds.

The running of the 1 3-16-mile race will be televised by CBS, 4:30-5 p.m., EST.

35,000 Expected At Race

A crowd of 35,000 is expected to be on hand at Pimlico unless the rain proves discouraging. Post time is set for 4:47 p.m., EST.

The pre-race excitement centered on the return showdown among John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay, Harry F. Guggenheim's Never Bend and Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots, who finished in that order in the Kentucky Derby May 4.

It was scored as an upset for Chateaugay and the experts aren't convinced he can go on to become the first grand-slammer since 1948 when Citation added the Preakness and Belmont for the triple crown.

The Pimlico program will carry Candy Spots as the probable favorite at 7-5, Chateaugay and Never Bend each 5-2. The odds jump to 12-1 on Mrs. Charles Morgan's Sky Wonder and rise from there on Ambush Stable's On My Honor, Jacnot Stable's Country Squire, T. D. Buhl's Lemon Twist to 30-1 on William B. Robinson's Rural Retreat.

But then came the forecast for rain and what happens if the track turns sloppy could open up an entirely new vista.

Makes No Difference

Trainer Woody Stephens of Never Bend was the only one among the big three who felt it would make no difference to his camp.

"I never thought mud would bother my horse," said Stephens. "He always has been a free runner."

He added that Never Bend had come from off the pace as many times as on the lead in winning 10 of 14 races.

"I haven't any idea," Mesh Tenney, trainer of Candy Spots, said in response to the possible effect of a sloppy track. "Except I don't think the mud on this track is going to hurt any horse too much. It is deep and probably wouldn't be slick."

Trainer Jimmy Conway of Chateaugay wasn't certain either just what an off track would mean to his colt.

"I'd feel much better if it were fast," he admitted. "But Chateaugay has run a decent sort of race in the slop in New York. But he just plain doesn't train in the mud."

The New York race referred to by Conway was last November when Chateaugay was beaten 1½ lengths in a mile race by Royal Ascot after leading for about half way.

Won All Before Derby

Candy Spots has raced only seven times, winning all before the Derby, and never on anything except a fast track.

Rural Retreat was an example of a new complexion being put on the Preakness if the track comes up wet. Robinson said candidly he risked the $1,000 entry fee Thursday only on that chance, and trainer Gordon Potter said Friday: "We'll run regardless of the weather."

Sky Wonder showed by a second-place finish in the Withers Mile last Saturday, he wasn't adverse to mud at Aqueduct. On My Honor, who was fourth in the Kentucky Derby, won the California Derby two weeks earlier on a sloppy track.

Both Lemon Twist and Country Squire have demonstrated they also can hold their own in slow going.

British Boxing Heads Alter Knockout Rule

LONDON (AP) — British boxing chiefs changed their rules Friday and made it impossible for a fighter to be saved from a knockout by the bell—except in the final round.

The British Boxing Board of Control ruled that when a boxer is taking a count the round must be extended to allow the referee to finish counting.

If the boxer gets to his feet while the referee is counting, the round will automatically end.

Only the final round will last the appointed time, whether a man is taking a count or not.

GETTING READY FOR PREAKNESS—Three of the eight entries for the $150,000 added Preakness today worked half a mile yesterday at Pimlico. Left to right are Chateaugay, with Braulio Baeza up; Bob Menell on Candy Spots, and Omer Calvert astride Rural Retreat. The Preakness, middle jewel in racing's Triple Crown, is 1 3/16 miles. Chateaugay was the winner of the Kentucky Derby, Never Bend was second and Candy Spots third. The trio will be among the eight slated to go postward at 5:45 p. m., today.

Grey Scandal Wins Walden

Favored Busy Jill Is 2nd At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Md., May 17 (AP) Showing extreme speed on the turn while going slightly wide, R. & R. Stable's Grey Scandal led throughout the long stretch drive to win the $15,000-added Walden Stakes, run exclusively for Maryland-bred juveniles as today's featured eighth race at Pimlico.

Under Robert L. Baird, Grey Scandal had trouble taking the early lead away from Mrs. Donaldson Christmas' Benedict C. and then was all out to complete the five furlongs in 1:01. She paid $13.80, $5.60 and $4.00 across the board.

Edgehill Stable's Busy Jill, the 7-to-5 favorite because of open victories in both of two previous starts, failed to break as alertly as in the past and had to be ridden out to gain second money, just a head in front of Benedict C. Busy Jill paid $3.20 and $2.80 while Benedict C. returned $4.60 to show.

The Preakness even crowd of 9,116 fans saw the racing strip dampened by a light rain prior to the final race and there was much speculation as to the effect a muddy track could have on tomorrow's 87th running of the $150,000 Preakness Stakes.

Oakland To Test League Leaders

Waldorf Gets New Big Eight Position

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—The Big Eight Conference Friday named John Waldorf, commissioner of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, as its supervisor of officials—a newly established post.

Waldorf, 53, is a 30-year veteran of football and basketball officiating, most of it in the Big Eight. He has served as MIAA commissioner since 1951.

His appointment was recommended by Wayne Duke, executive director-elect of the Big Eight, and approved by conference faculty representatives and athletic directors at their annual spring meeting.

Waldorf will begin his duties July 1, the same date Duke succeeds Reaves Peters, who is retiring after 16 years as executive director.

Don MacLaughlin, Roger Staubach Get Top Navy Awards

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Midshipmen Don MacLaughlin of Baltimore and Roger Staubach of Cincinnati were named Friday as winners of the U.S. Naval Academy's top two athletic awards.

Staubach, sensational quarterback of the Navy football team last fall and a basketball and baseball player as well, will be the first sophomore in the school's history to win the Thompson Trophy.

It has been presented annually since 1893 to the midshipman "who has done the most during the current year for the promotion of athletics at the academy."

MacLaughlin, outstanding in soccer and lacrosse, will receive the Naval Academy Athletic Association Sword. It is regarded as the No. 1 athletic prize.

Nats' Osborne Has Grand Slam Erased; Twinbill Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grand slam home run by Larry Osborne against his former club was erased Friday night as rain washed out a scheduled twi-night double-header between the Detroit Tigers and the Washington Senators in the second inning of the opening game.

The game will be made up as part of a twi-night double-header Saturday night.

Osborne hit his four-run homer off Detroit left-hander Don Mossi in the first inning.

Al Kaline homered for the Tigers against Bennie Daniels in the second.

College Teams In Final Games

WVU Frosh At FSTC, D.&E. At Potomac

Frostburg State Teachers College and Potomac State College will play the final games on their 1963 baseball schedule today.

Coach William Marley's Bobcats meet the West Virginia University Freshmen at Beall High Field at 1:30 p. m.

Frostburg won the opening game of the series, 3-1, and must make a sweep to windup the season in the .500 class. The Bobcats are 8-8 to date.

Potomac State faces Davis & Elkins College in a twin bill at Keyser at 1 p. m. An even break would keep Coach John Fox's team in the .500 circle for the season but a double loss would drop it below. Potomac State goes into the final contest with an 8-7-1 record.

Phony Fan Foiled At Crashing Gate

A would-be gate crasher at last Sunday's National Championship Sports Car Races might have been successful if he had used another entrance.

Henry K. Duke, a local insurance agent, was collecting tickets at one of the back gates at the Municipal Airport when a man approached him and identified himself as a representative of the Kemper Insurance Company.

"We carry the insurance on these races," the stranger informed Duke, "and I'm here to look things over for the company."

When Duke told the phony representative that Lloyds of London carries the insurance on the races and that he (Duke) wrote it, the man sheepishly handed over the five dollar price of admission and proceeded through the gate.

Tiptop Unbeatens Clash Tomorrow

Maryland Anglers Must Have Trout Stamp On June 1

Director Ernest A. Vaughn of the Game and Inland Fish Commission announced that new legislation enacted by the recent session of the Maryland General Assembly, effective June 1, 1963, requires all residents of the State of Maryland over the age of sixteen (16) to have a trout stamp at the cost of $1.00 to fish in designated trout waters after June 1, 1963, which is in addition to the regular fishing license.

The new legislation also provides that all non-residents, twelve (12) years of age and over must procure a non-resident fishing license as well as a trout stamp to fish in the designated trout waters of the State of Maryland.

The stamps will be distributed prior to June 1, 1963, and may be obtained from the license distributors located within the county.

Further information on this can be obtained by calling your local District Game Warden.

Campers Rap Bruce, 12-2, In Rain-Shortened Tilt

Two ACL Games Called Off; Alco Ties For Lead

Two of three games scheduled for yesterday in the Allegany County Baseball League were postponed because of rain, and the weatherman cut short the third contest in which Allegany whipped Bruce, 12-2, in three and one-half innings at Campobello.

The feature battle on yesterday's schedule — Mt. Savage at Fort Hill — was called off and reset for Monday, May 27. The game between LaSalle and Valley at Lonaconing was postponed, and no new date was set.

A steady rain halted play in the Allegany-Bruce game with the home team Campers batting with one out in the bottom of the fourth inning. The visiting and trailing Bulldogs had batted in their half of the fourth, and the contest was declared official.

The lopsided triumph moved the Campert into a tie for first place with Mt. Savage, each with records of five wins and two defeats.

Bruce, now 0-7 in ACL play, matched Allegany's first inning run with one in the second, but the Campers cut loose for ten tallies in the bottom of the second.

Fourteen Allegany batters went to the plate in the big frame, during which the Campers collected eight of their 13 hits and put two men on via bases on balls.

Righthander Larry Snyder worked the four full innings for Allegany and picked up his third win without a loss. Snyder yielded four hits, didn't walk a batter, hit one batsman and struck out five.

Pat Ryan, first of three Bruce pitchers, was the loser.

Snyder also led Allegany's plate assault with three hits in as many trips. Bobby Lowe banged out a pair of doubles. Jimmy Bell had a double and single, and Terry Lease and Dave Bruce each collected two singles.

Three of the four hits obtained by Bruce were for extra bases. Melvin Whitfield larruped a triple, and Gerald Miller and Shoemaker each had doubles.

Archer And Zalazar Fight In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Middleweight contender Joey Archer of New York, slickest boxer in the 160-pound division, pits his speed and skill against Victor Zalazar, Argentine knockout specialist, in their nationally televised fight here Saturday night.

Because Archer is expected to give Zalazar an A-to-Z lesson in ringcraft, Joey is favored at 13-5 to beat victor in their 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Incidentally, the Garden has had a lay-off from fisticuffs for the past seven weeks during which a circus occupied the punch emporium.

Irish Joey, 25, is ranked seventh among middleweight contenders by the World Boxing Association, and eighth by the Ring magazine. Zalazar, with four straight knockouts under his belt, is trying to smash back into the rankings.

Women Voted Out Of Big Ten Athletic Setup

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Big Ten hung up the "for men only" sign on its intercollegiate athletic program Friday.

Commissioner Bill Reed announced the conference athletic directors, opening their spring business meeting, proclaimed that "the intercollegiate athletic program should be confined to men and our teams should not compete with teams having women as members."

Considerable furor developed recently when Washington University of St. Louis began confronting tennis rivals with talented Carol Hanks, a nationally ranked player. A number of schools canceled matches with Washington because of the feminine star's presence on the squad.

Colts' Nottebart Fires No-Hitter

HOUSTON (UPI) — Don Nottebart, a 27-year-old right-hander obtained by Houston on a teammate's recommendation, pitched the National League's second no-hit game within a week Friday night in leading the Colts to a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

It marked the first major league no-hitter in which the opposing team scored a run since Bob Feller of Cleveland beat Detroit, on July 1, 1951, for the third no-hitter of his career.

Jofre Defends Bantam Title

MANILA (UPI) — Brazil's Eder Jofre, a savage puncher who has knocked out 78 per cent of all his opponents, was rated an overwhelming favorite Friday to defeat Filipino Johnny Jamito Saturday night and retain his world bantamweight crown.

Jamito, 23, the No. 5 ranking bantamweight contender in the latest ratings of the World Boxing Association, was given only a slight chance against Jofre, who at 27 has been called pound-for-pound the best fighter in the ring today.

A crowd of about 36,000 was expected to jam the Araneta Coliseum to watch the 15-round title clash.

Jofre has refused to underestimate Jamito, however.

"Jamito has lost only three of his 52 professional fights," Jofre told an interviewer. "That is an impressive record. A fighter with such a record is a dangerous opponent."

Jofre, himself, is unbeaten in 46 bouts.

Saturday night will be Jofre's seventh title defense.

Black Being Held For Grand Jury

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A laborer in whose apartment pro football star Eugene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb gave himself a fatal injection of heroin last Friday morning was ordered held in $3000 bail for the grand jury Friday on charges of possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

Timothy N. Black, 24, of Baltimore, pleaded innocent to the charges at a hearing before western district municipal court Judge I. Sewell Lamdin. He posted the bail and was released.

Police testified the narcotics paraphernalia involved consisted of a make - shift syringe made of an eye dropper and a hypodermic needle.

Black told police he gave himself an injection of heroin and then Lipscomb took an injection, administering it himself. The two had been out on the town and had been drinking, according to Black.

An autopsy of the body of the huge National Football League lineman revealed that death was caused by an overdose of heroin.

Sugar Issues Sweetening Irregularly Higher Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sharp gains in sugar issues highlighted an irregularly higher and moderate active stock market Friday.

Strength in this group continued to reflect a series of price boosts for refined sugar. American Crystal paced the sugar leaders with a jump of 9 followed by Amalgamated up 1⅜, American Sugar Refining 1⅜, National 1⅛, Holly 2⅜ and Western 1⅛.

Central Aguirre Sugar tacked on 2¼ after a spokesman for the company said he expects earnings for the year ending July 31 to more than double those of fiscal 1962.

Dow-Jones industrials rose 1.97 to 724.81, its highest level since this average closed at 726.01 on Jan. 3, 1962. Gains in this indicator reflected mainly an advance of 1¾ in Chrysler, 1¼ in Du Pont and a point in International Paper.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose a nominal 0.04 and trading for the session totaled 4,410,000 shares, 1,230,000 less than Thursday for the slowest in nine sessions.

Youngstown Sheet rose ¾ in a mixed steel group. Motors and chemicals were both narrowly mixed.

Of the 1,335 issues traded, 545 advanced and 473 declined — 97 to new 1963 highs and 16 to new lows.

Chrysler once again topped the most active list with a turnover of 88,900 shares. Foremost Dairies followed, up ⅜, and then A & P, South Puerto Rico Sugar, off ⅛ and Thatcher Glass off 4¼.

Stocks on the American Exchange were higher on a turnover of 1,350,000 shares — unchanged from the previous session. Featured on the "Amex" were Occidental Petroleum up 1⅜ and Syntex up 4⅜.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Five Injured As Cars Crash On Town Hill

One Vehicle Catches Fire

Five persons were injured, two of them being hospitalized, late yesterday afternoon in a two-car collision on the west slope of Town Hill on U. S. Route 40. One of the cars burst into flames upon impact.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital were Mrs. George Minnick, 23, of 7647 Walters Lane, Washington, and her three-month-old daughter, Debra.

Treated and released were Mrs. Minnick's husband and their son, George C. Minnick, three years old.

Mrs. Minnick was admitted for treatment and observation and is reported in "satisfactory" condition. Debra was treated for a laceration of her scalp and admitted for X-rays. She is in "fair" condition.

Stanley Leonard Sekulow, 28, of 4227 Belle Forte Road, Pikesville, driver of the car which burst into flames, was taken to the War Memorial Hospital in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., but was not expected to be admitted, attaches said.

Firemen Help

Volunteer firemen from Flintstone were called to the scene of the accident and quenched the fire, which almost destroyed the 1962 model compact car. The ambulance of the fire company brought the Minnick family to the local hospital.

A passing motorist took the Pikesville man to the hospital in Berkeley Springs.

Trooper John McFarland, who was cruising not far from the accident scene, was flagged down by a passing motorist and notified of the collision.

The trooper reported that Sekulow was traveling east on the west slope of Town Hill near the foot of the mountain and attempted to make a sharp left curve.

Skids Into Other Lane

In the process the car began to slide on the wet pavement, across the center of the highway, and collided with the Minnick car which was westbound.

Sekulow told the trooper that when the cars collided his car caught fire and he rolled out of the vehicle. He complained of back and shoulder pain.

The Pikesville man was charged with failure to keep to the right of the center of the highway and will be given a hearing on June 3 before Trial Magistrate Russell Nierman at Flintstone.

The accident occurred about 4:20 p.m. and it was raining at the time.

Cloud Seeding Service Plans Publicity Drive

Has Been Source Of Controversy

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—An official of the Blue Ridge Weather Modification Service says he will start a publicity campaign to offset a possible hassle over hail.

The service started sprinkling ominous clouds with silver iodide particles Thursday in the Appalachian Fruit Belt area in an effort to stop crop damaging hail.

The cloud seeding process has been a source of bitter controversy in the past. Dirt farmers contend their fruit growing neighbors divert rain with the cloud seedings and cause droughts.

Fred C. Matson said the service would emphasize positive aspects of the program which will cover a four-state area.

Matson said fruit growers may still apply for the cloud seeding which is contracted on a per-acre basis. The program, which is in its fifth year, costs the apple and peach growers about $3 an acre.

Matson said the exact number of growers enrolled in the program this year was not yet known, but estimated about 25,000 acres in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania would be covered. the seeding will continue through the hail season until September.

The service begins the seeding process whenever weather analyses indicate hail-bearing clouds are in the offing. Airplanes fly into the clouds and spread the silver iodide particles which convert the hail to slush or rain. At the same time, about 100 operators of ground generators—fired by gas—are alerted and start their generators, spewing additional silver iodide particles into the air.

Pennsylvania farmers last year threatened to blow up irrigation ditches, poison wells and chop down trees of orchard owners who persisted in cloud seeding.

Many orchard growers withdrew from the service in mid-season because their neighbors complained they were monopolizing the rain.

Rubber Workers To Hear Report On Pact Talks

Members of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, will hear a report on the status of contract negotiations with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company at a regular membership meeting tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. in the union hall.

James W. Stein, Local 26 president, said the negotiating committee will report on "where we stand" and then it will be up to the membership "to tell us what they want us to do for them."

He added that the committee will present a "progress report" and will make no recommendations.

The pact talks have been continuing on a day-to-day basis and Mr. Stein said arrangements have been made to resume talks Monday at 9:30 a. m. if the membership desires.

Negotiations on a contract covering some 1,800 hourly paid workers at the Kelly plant began April 8 and were extended on a day-to-day basis when the existing pact was due to expire May 11.

W. Va. Brothers Admit Assault Upon Troopers

Plead Guilty In Attack Case

Dalton Cline Lower and Lawrence Wayne Lower, brothers from the Antioch area of Mineral County, W. Va., yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty to felonious and unlawful assault upon two state policemen when they were arraigned before Judge David E. Cuppett Jr. in Mineral County Circuit Court.

The brothers had been indicted by the grand jury in Keyser on the more serious charge of malicious assault upon Cpl. F. W. Armstrong and Trooper Donald L. Elmore of the Keyser detachment on February 10 at the Mountain View Inn, Limestone Road. Cpl. Armstrong was hospitalized for several weeks after the incident.

Prosecuting Attorney C. Reeves Taylor accepted the plea to the lesser charge made on behalf of the brothers by their attorneys, H. R. and Gary H. Athey. Malicious assault carries with it a penalty of two to 10 years imprisonment. Felonious assault has a penalty ranging from one to five years, or one year in jail and a fine.

Judge Cuppett deferred sentence in the case until Monday.

The assault occurred when the state policemen were in the act of arresting a friend of the Lower brothers at the Mountain View Inn. The brothers joined in a fight with the arresting officers, authorities said.

Lake Gordon Repairs Are Being Urged

Dam Is Inspected By Pa. Official

The Water Department has been advised by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that immediate action should be taken by the City of Cumberland on repairs to the face of Lake Gordon.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light was advised recently that an engineer from the Water and Power Resources Board of Pennsylvania made an inspection of the Lake Gordon dam.

It said the following unsatisfactory conditions exist:

1. The downstream face of the dam is badly deteriorated and in need of rehabilitation.

2. Considerable leakage was noted at the toe on the right of the spillway.

3. Considerable seepage was also noted coming from the defective areas on the downstream face.

C. H. McConnell, chief engineer, said the Evitts Creek Water Company was advised of the conditions in September of 1948 and that George M. Hitchcock, then superintendent, advised that renovations would be attended to in the immediate future.

He asked the city to notify his office of its intentions relative to "correcting this situation which has progressively deteriorated" over the years.

Immediate action should be taken, he said, to place the dam in a satisfactory condition.

Mr. Light said the dam repairs are part of the Water Department's construction program but that the rehabilitation of the gate chamber of the dam will take precedence.

He added it will be an expensive job, and that the city will try to get estimates of cost.

The city has been attempting to get the gate chamber project included in the Accelerated Public Work program.

Identity Of Girl Sought

Keyser police and Maryland state police last night were attempting to learn the identity of a girl who was found standing in the rain earlier in the day at the Keyser entrance of the Memorial Bridge which spans the Potomac River.

Police at Keyser received a number of calls that the girl was standing in the rain clutching a baby doll.

About 4 p. m. Officer Thorne picked up the girl, who is believed to be about 11 years old and took her to police headquarters.

They questioned the girl but were unable to learn her identity. Maryland state police were called. Authorities said the girl told them that her father had left her out of the car.

Last night the girl was taken to the detention quarters at the Allegany County Home by the state police.

Zoning Appeals Are Approved

Three appeals were approved by the Board of Zoning Appeals at a meeting Thursday night in City Hall.

Two of the appeal cases involved used car lot applications referred to the board by the Mayor and Council.

Recommendations will be sent to the Mayor and Council as required by the city code.

They include the application of Raymond L. Parker Sr., trading as Thrifty Auto Sales, Inc., who asked permission to move his used car lot from 305 South Centre Street to 1601 Ford Avenue.

Allen H. Tyler, Route 2, was seeking to occupy the site at 305 South Centre Street for the sale of used cars.

The board also approved the application of Donald L. Lester, 571 Cromwell Terrace, to enclose the front porch of his home.

NEWS CAMERA ANGLE—Frank Bourgholtzer, NBC newsman and former Moscow Bureau Chief, is shown checking a camera angle during filming of "The Kremlin" to be colorcast Tuesday (May 21) at 9:30 p. m. It's the first such footage to be telecast.

NBC Readies More Soviet Film

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

On Tuesday, May 21 (at 9:30 p. m.) you can see NBC Newsman Frank Bourgholzer walk confidently up to the Spasski Gate of the Kremlin, open the door and walk right past the guards into the Kremlin. And no, the footage doesn't stop there . . . it starts there!

Of all the recent "inside" visits this surely takes the cake as the most astounding . . . for never before have foreign camera crews been permitted inside the Kremlin; in fact it wasn't even open to the Russian public until 1957. Furthermore NBC got to many places that are still off-limits to the Russians.

What were the magic words that open-sesameed this impregnable fortress and kept up Soviet cooperation for the "Kremlin" filming even as Soviet grumbling was rising over other NBC documentaries? Well the magic words seem to be "Lucy Jarvis." The good looking brunette, with a never-but-never-take-no-for-an-answer outlook is NBC Coordinator of Special Programs. She developed the idea then spent months in Moscow negotiating for final permission then took on the role of associate producer when clearance came through.

"The Kremlin," says Mrs. Jarvis, "is the symbol of the land of Communism but the basic symbolism runs far deeper. It was here that all the Czars were crowned and it was to the Kremlin (a 40-block long complex of palaces, churches and museums) that Lenin returned the seat of government." The NBC documentary will recreate in the actual settings historical events from the Kremlin's beginning as a stockade through the period of the Czars to its modern role as part museum and part Soviet government headquarters.

No dry little room-to-room tour this. The Napoleonic invasion (still a touchy subject in present-day Russia) has been simulated in the actual setting. NBC was even permitted to fire an ancient cannon (in Red Square, in the middle of the night, no less).

Mrs. Jarvis landed in Moscow in June 1962 to a gala welcome by Russian news officials. It was a case of bread cast upon the water returning many-fold; for a year earlier she had invited Russian radio and television representatives to appear in the Unitd States on a program she was producing and it was then that she had first broached the idea of a Kremlin visit.

"I arrived on a 10-day visa," she recalls, "and it was renewed and renewed for exactly five months." Though everything was courteous the wait between steps seemed interminable. Two months had gone by and then "I got an invitation to a party I knew Khrushchev would be attending and I rushed off to buttonhole him. I'd gone all the way up through the line of authority until he was the only one left. For the first few minutes he corrected my Russian grammar (she'd wisely had the foresight to study the language) then he listened to my request for getting on with our Kremlin filming." After hearing out the pretty brunette he smiled and with a wave of the hand assured her, "Yes, yes, the permission is yours." Two days later she was invited to the crucial committee meeting. "Permission had indeed been granted," she said, "and we signed the contracts."

"Once inside what impressed you most?" Lucy Jarvis, looking a little like a fuller-faced Rosalind Russell didn't hesitate a second. "The lavishness, the absolute lavishness. Versailles seems simplicity itself against the gold and jewels of the Czars, gold walls, gold and more gold. Unbelievably rich icons and jewelled altars. The richness is astounding."

Something else impressed her, too. For the Soviet era, she explained, the pageant treatment focused on Lenin's apartment. "While I was there," she said, "I sneaked a look at Lenin's telephone pad. Everything is left exactly as it was when he was alive. He had Trotsky's number listed . . . but not Stalin's."

"Surely you encountered a little difficulty in this shrine of the modern Soviet, the Lenin apartments?" I double-checked. "No. Once negotiations were completed there were absolutely no restrictions whatever. We were even using a new kind of Ektachrome color film for which there were no developing facilities in the Soviet Union, and they let us ship out our unexposed negative for developing."

How did this goodwill work outside of working hours? By now, one must realize Lucy Jarvis knows how to get along and make people like it. How? "Well, they were running all six of their elevators as locals. I suggested running three locals to the 11th floor and the other three express. At first they wren't going to try it, thought I was joking because I lived on the 11th floor. But finally they were convinced and it worked like a charm. Wonder if they're still doing it?"

She also won some friends with brownies. "They had lots of delicacies of their own, but brownies were different. Curiosity was so great I practically rationed every batch I baked."

Why did it take two months to get that permission? Well, as a Russian general told her, "If we Russians said we wanted to photograph everything in your White House don't you think it would raise some questions."

NO, THANK YOU—After a recent Ed Sullivan Show salute to Richard Rodgers, the famed composer approached Roberta Peters (above) and asked if she would like to do a Broadway musical. "I was very grateful," says the beautiful soprano, "but I said 'no'. Doing a Broadway show is just too hard on a voice like mine and I have to be very careful."

Titles Contrast

After a stroll down Broadway, NBC Newsman Ed Newman puts two and two together and comes up with a comment. Seems "How the West Was Won" is playing across the street from "The Ugly American" which he thinks must accurately be subtitled, "Or How the East Was Lost."

Big Money Show To Return In Fall

Big Money, or at least the chance to compete for it, will be coming back to home screens Sunday nights at 10 p. m. (commencing September 15) when ABC telecasts "100 Grand" live from New York.

Says the network spokesman, vice president Daniel McInick, "The big money prize quiz show is an appropriate format for television. The dramatic conflict and electric tension, the audience sympathy for the contestant as he competes for $100,000 creates the kind of excitement that makes for absorbing television."

The program's "built-in security precautions" are to be detailed to the press at a later date. Says Mr. Melnick, "the program's format in addition to being ingenious and exciting, was specifically designed to incorporate safeguards that guarantee the integrity of the contest."

Max Baer of the CBS Television Network series "The Beverly Hillbillies" is an adept performer on piano, sax and clarinet.

Lovely Sandra Church who bowed on Broadway at 17 in "Picnic" and later created "Gypsy" on the stage will star on TV, May 22 ("Eleventh Hour"). She's also currently being seen on movie screens around the country in "The Ugly American."

Edna Skinner who understands less about horses on "Mr. Ed" than Alan Young is only play-acting it seems. In real life the CBS star owns a 285-acre ranch in Montana where she raises five-gaited horses.

What next? Did you see Chet Huntley scooting around in that experimental car that clogs up if leaded gas is used but which runs on almost anything else from bourbon to perfume? Chrysler plans to make about fifty of the little wonders. The motor it is said is air-cooled, has one-fifth the parts of the piston engine, has only one spark plug and never requires an oil change!

You've heard of Wayne and Schuster? Well two other fellows, Wayne and Wayne will be appearing with James Stewart in a baseball story on "Premiere" Thursday, May 23. They be Pat Wayne, who has a co-starring role, and his pop John Wayne, who has a walk-on.

A vintage selection of "The Lucy-Desi Comedy Hour" is announced as a thirteen-week summer replacement for Jackie Gleason on CBS.

Keith Taylor, the 12-year-old who plays Tubby in "McKeever and the Colonel," loves to cook. He prepares breakfast and dinner for himself and his mother, who is confined to a wheelchair with multiple sclerosis.

Hazel To Don Apron In Move To Color TV

Things may be brighter in kitchens around the land next season if other domestics follow "Hazel's" lead. No more is the nation's most popular maid going to stick to black and grey uniforms.

The word is out that "Hazel," portrayed by Shirley Booth, will show up next season in a selection of uniforms in bright colors. Fittingly, "Hazel," which returns for its third season, is presented in color.

Gettysburger?

Stuart Schulberg, producer of "David Brinkley's Journal," complains that souvenir stands are going pretty far. On location for a program on national shrines he takes exception to the speciality-of-the-house purveyed by an eating place in Gettysburg which puts some hamburger in a bun and calls it a "Gettysburger."
